

Romulus schools could close

School employees 'on warning track'

Alpena.
Taylor.
Will the Romulus Community School District be next?
It could happen in Romulus, warn school officials who have organized an all-out effort to educate and inform residents on the seriousness of the pending bond proposal.

Voters in the school district will be asked to approve a multi-million dollar proposition which will allow and give the school district authority to sell bonds and pay off present debts with anticipated tax dollars.

If the residents turn down the proposal, which will appear on the Nov. 3 ballot, school officials say that schools will close. It happened in Alpena last Friday, and on Monday, when Taylor residents refused to pass a tax package, school officials in that community have gone on record as saying that schools will close next month.

In anticipation "for the worst", Romulus school officials have mailed out letters to each and every school employee, warning them of the consequences of a "no" vote on Nov. 3.

That certified letter reads:
"On Monday, October 12, 1981, the Romulus Community Schools Board of Education, meeting in regular session, voted to notify all school district employees that if the November 3, 1981 bond proposal is not approved by the voters, then effective January 4, 1982 schools will be closed for an indefinite period of time.

"Further, effective that date you shall not report to work or be paid until notified otherwise. You are also notified schools may be closed before January 4, 1982 if the school district becomes insolvent and is unable to secure employees' and employee unions' agreement to work without pay.

"We regret that this action is necessary."

The letter was signed by Sandra F. Langley, Secretary of the Romulus Board of Education.

Stricter penalty for crimes against seniors

State Senator John C. Hertel has launched a petition drive which would place on the ballot an amendment to Act No. 328 of the Public Acts of 1931 that would provide a criminal penalty of five years in addition to any other penalty for anyone committing or attempting to commit a felony against anyone 60 years of age or older.

In his drive to place the amendment on the ballot, Hertel stated: "We have been raised to believe that our country is the 'land of the free... yet, each year more and more Americans over 60 years of age are no longer free in their own neighborhoods."

Hertel said that criminals prey on the elderly because senior citizens usually can't fight back, therefore, the penalty for attacking the elderly should warrant greater punishment.

No arcades in Van Buren

A Van Buren Township resident has urged the township board to go on record as opposing arcades in the township.

Landon Garrett, armed with an ordinance recently adopted by neighboring Canton, told the board trustees that he considered such "establishments" as nuisances.

And in a prepared statement said: "We request the Board of Trustees to make it unlawful for a person, and by person we mean any individual from co-partnership, corporation, association club, joint venture, and any other group or combination acting as a unit from opening or operating a mechanical amusement device in Van Buren Township."

Mayor Oakley says he opposes DetRo plant

COUNCILMAN RUSH

If there were any doubts how Mayor William Oakley stood on the proposed sludge plant in this city, they were removed last week at the regular City Council meeting.

Challenged by Councilman Ed Rush to make his position clear on the proposed plant, Mayor Oakley came out and said he was against DetRo's proposed plant.

"I have heard several comments commending you, Mr. Mayor, on opposing the expansion of the landfill in Canton Township," Rush said, "and I also applaud you in your efforts. Many have read the letter that you wrote in opposing the landfill, however, I would like to know how you stand on DetRo's proposed plant in our city."

The mayor was quick to reply that he opposed DetRo's plans to build a multi-million dollar plant that would refine Detroit's sludge and create fertilizer.

Mayor Oakley called Woodland Meadows Landfill in Canton's expansion plans "detrimental to the area". He pointed out that if the owners of the landfill received permission to expand, it "would effect the northwest corner of Romulus, the area of the city which would be heavily impacted, and an area zoned R-1A, Single Family Residential."

DetRo officials have been unsuccessfully trying to receive permission to build a plant in Romulus, and after a year of frustrations have gone to court for satisfaction. Attorneys from the city and DetRo are awaiting the court's ruling in the DetRo case.

His dream came true

John Golembiewski is all smiles as he unwraps a very special gift last week — a new electric wheelchair — which was purchased with the $2,470 donated by readers of the Associated Newspapers. The 31-year-old quadriplegic had lost his wheelchair in a freak accident and had been unable to move around his home, the Venoy Continued Care Center in Wayne, without assistance. Among the friends on hand for the special moment was Toni Walter, the center's activities director. Institutionalized since the age of nine with Cerebral Palsy, John's new "wheels" will allow him to resume his normal routine at the center.

Community rallies to raise money for cancer victim

A 13-year-old Romulus youth is facing the challenge of his life.

He's fighting a brain tumor, and Kenny Muggelberg is meeting that challenge.

However, Kenny and his family have been severely handicapped by hospital costs, so friends in Romulus and the area are rallying to his support. They have organized several fundraisers to help defray the gigantic costs to fight the cancer.

"We're invited everyone to join us at Orchard Grove Inn," said Betsy Brown, a Romulus municipal employee, "to help raise money for Kenny. Needless to say the hospital costs have been one of the major obstacles this family is fighting."

"It's very difficult for them," Ms. Brown said.

Kind to read poetry

The Fred C. Fischer Public Library is pleased to be able to present "Poetry for the Fall Season", a reading by Ed Kind.

Kind, a Romulus resident, will read his works on Thursday, Oct. 22, at 7:00 p.m. at the library, 167 Fourth, Belleville. For more information, please call the library at 699-3291.

Ms. Brown said that the fundraiser at the Orchard Grove Inn will begin at 6:30 p.m., on Monday, Oct. 26. All proceeds from the program will go to the Muggelberg fund. The Inn is located in Huron Township on Middlebelt and Sibley.

Romulus Councilman Fred Junior Block and Mayor Pro Tem. Mary Ann Banks also are spearheading the drive to raise money for Kenny.

"You couldn't find a better family," Mrs. Banks said, "and we're committed to doing everything humanly possible to help them."

Councilman Block said that there will be a benefit dinner, which will include a Pig Roast, at the Inn and persons will be able to get all they want.

"We're saying 'eat till it hurts' - give till it hurts!"

Council to air Cable TV bids

Romulus City Council and residents will be able to hear what the three competing Cable TV firms have to offer the city during public hearings scheduled next week in the Romulus council chambers.

Three firms, Comcast Cablevision, Omnicom of Plymouth, and Barden Cablevision of Inkster are seeking the Romulus franchise and council is scheduled to make a decision on which of the three will build the local system.

The public hearing is scheduled for 7 p.m., Wed., Oct. 28.

Council and the public will hear presentations by the three firms. They will be able to ask questions and clear up any misunderstandings they have able cable.

Omnicom is a Capital Cities Cable TV subsidiary, currently building systems in Belleville and Canton Township and has systems in operation in Plymouth.

Barden Cable picked up franchises in Inkster and Oak Park and is the first minority-owned cable TV system.

Comcast is presently constructing cable systems in Van Buren and Sumpster Townships and has been in the Cable TV business for 20 years.

The rates for the system vary on what the subscriber wishes to view and how many "extras" the customer desires. Comcast's basic rate for 58 channel system plus H.B.O. (first run movies) is $14.45, and according to Comcast representatives is the lowest of the three bidders.

Omnicom president Pete Newell said that his company had completed an independent survey of the city to determine its rate structure.

'No', thanks says Dyer

Wayne-Westland School Supt. Dr. Timothy Dyer has withdrawn his name for consideration for the post of Commissioner of Education for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Dyer was a finalist for the position, but notified William Grigsby, chairperson of the Search Committee, of his withdrawal earlier this week.

The committee was to have completed its deliberations and made an announcement of its selection yesterday, with the appointment to be approved yesterday evening.

Dyer in his letter indicated he was "honored and flattered" to be considered a finalist for "one of the nation's most prestigious educational posts."

"We did a survey of Romulus to see exactly how many miles there were, in other words, how many miles of cable would have to be run and exactly how many homes would be served, by that many miles of cable."

"And we came up with some numbers that were significantly different from those that we had originally been provided," Newell continued, "so we have done our own analysis of costs to build the system based on our numbers."

"If our numbers are wrong, then obviously we're going to build it for less, but there's less density of homes and more cable mileage than what the city has told us," Newell concluded.

Folmar accused of fraud

Romulus City Clerk Leonard Folmar faces a felony charge that he allegedly used his public office to obtain services over $100 by false pretense. The Romulus Roman has learned.

Folmar was bound over to Circuit Court last Wednesday by 34th District Judge Henry Zaborowski following a preliminary examination on the count. An arraignment hearing was set for Nov. 13 and the clerk was released on a personal cognizance bond.

Det. Sgt. John Slenk, who spearheaded the investigation for the Michigan State Police, said Monday that the charge stems from Folmar's issuance of a fireworks' permit to an individual last June for $250, monies which allegedly never were received in city coffers. The Romulus Police Department had requested an investigation of the matter by the state police, Slenk reported.

The results of that investigation prompted the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office to issue a warrant for Folmar's arrest on Oct. 6, Slenk said.

A candidate for mayor in the Nov. 3 election, Folmar is the only city clerk Romulus has had in its 11-year history, having been the first to serve in the position in 1970 and having won reelection ever since.

If convicted, Folmar could be sentenced to a jail term of up to 10 years.

Folmar was not available for comment.

Schools & bonds

During the week, Romulus schools will "open their doors" to the parents of the community in order for parents and teachers to exchange dialogue. Above, board trustee Dan Bailes discusses the school system and school problems with a standing-room-only crowd that attended one of several open houses. Other board trustees will be meeting and speaking about the upcoming bond issue with parents during the next few weeks. In the photo at the right, parents and teachers crowd into Hale Creek auditorium to hear board of education representatives discuss school fiscal problems.

Stress is on pending bond issue

Schools to host 'Open House'

Hundreds of parents are and will be visiting their neighborhood elementary school to participate in the annual "Open House."

The yearly event brings parents and teachers together to exchange information about the school's curriculum and activities for the year.

Questions about homework, subject content and special projects are answered by the teacher as well as other questions parents may have about the classroom.

This year the Open House has a second objective, and that is to give members of the community an opportunity to ask questions to members of the Board of Education.

The format used is to have a member of the Board and Superintendent Bedell speak to the group for a short time about the Nov. 3, bond proposal. While parents are visiting classrooms, they may stop by and visit individually with Board members and Dr. William Bedell, Superintendent of Schools.

In this setting, the members of the board can speak informally with parents and answer their questions and concerns.

As of today, four elementary schools: Hale Creek, Merriman, Mt. Pleasant and Wick, have had their Open House. On Wed., Oct. 21, there will be an Open House at Cory and Beverly School; Barth School will have its Open House Thurs., Oct. 22.

All citizens of the community are invited to attend these programs which start at 7 p.m.

An Open House and art show is planned for Hayti School on Nov. 2, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Like the other schools, citizens are welcome to visit with members of the Board of Education and Dr. Bedell.

Chairman Roger Cadaret of the "Our Community Counts Committee" also is attending these scheduled open house programs. The committee is made up of community members and is working hard to publicize the importance and need of a positive vote Nov. 3. Cadaret's committee is organizing coffee klatches in homes and at some of the elementary schools.

Wick Elementary will hold a teacher sponsored coffee klatch at 7 p.m. on Oct. 27, 1981. The public is invited to attend.

Questions about the bond issue and its importance can be answered by calling 941-1600 and asking for Dr. Bedell, Superintendent of Schools.

YWCA holds arts, crafts fair

Arts and Crafts will be put on display this weekend at the YWCA of Western Wayne County.

The fair will get underway at 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. on Fri., Oct. 23 and Sat., Oct. 24 at the "Y" facility located west of Telegraph between Beech Daly and John Daly.

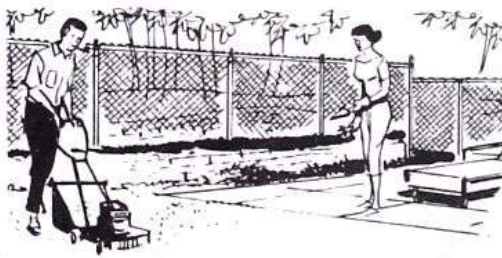

There will be a raffle drawing at 5 p.m. on Saturday.

Also, the YWCA is holding a "Wine & Cheese Preview" between the hours of 6 to 9 p.m., Thurs., Oct. 22. Residents will be able to meet the artists, enjoy the music of "The New Arrangements" and be among the first to select from a wide assortment of arts & crafts.

Capital punishment

L. Brooks Patterson says there's only one way to deter crime

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

"My purpose is to reinstate capital punishment in Michigan and thereby raise the risks for murder so high that fewer and fewer people will be willing to take the risk and commit the crime."

With these words to the Canton Rotary Club Monday, Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson continued his statewide petition drive to invoke the death penalty for those who commit first degree murder.

"The penalty for murder must be in proportion to the gravity of the offense, or how else do we denounce such a heinous crime?" He asked the large Rotary Club audience at the Formation Forum Restaurant.

Dressed in a conservative 3-piece gray suit, the articulate Patterson, who is an announced candidate for governor, described several grisly murders he has dealt with in the past few years. His speech Monday was one of 600 he will bring in his determined effort to get capital punishment reinstated in Michigan.

Three police officers and nine citizens killed by men out on parole.

That's what Patterson claims is the driving force behind his determination to get capital punishment reinstated in Michigan. It's a statewide petition drive he promised he would never undertake again.

"A few years ago I led the statewide petition drive that put Parole Reform (Proposal B) on the ballot. Parole reform, as an issue, passed overwhelmingly in the November, 1978 election. Today, as a result of that petition drive, felons convicted of violent crimes in Michigan will have to serve at least the minimum term imposed by the judge before they become eligible for parole. No more early release through time off for good behavior, said Patterson, who was first elected to the Oakland County Prosecutor's job in 1972.

He was re-elected in 1976 and 1980, defeating his opposition by a 2-to-1 margin.

"Over a period of two years I was able to recruit 10,000 volunteers to assist in the circulation of petitions. I have nearly 1200 speeches on the subject of Parole Reform and raised about $16,000 for printing costs and postage. At the end of that two years I was physically exhausted. I said that I would never lead a petition drive again because it was too demanding."

Patterson said, however, that the grisly, callous murders of policemen and citizens changed his mind.

"I'm about to undertake the same schedule, making the same number of speeches, traveling the same long roads, away from home seven nights a week. But I won't do it without a commitment from you, the Michigan Public."

"After ten years in the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office, I have come to the conclusion that the criminal justice system in this state fails to protect the public. The system does not deter, it does not punish, it does not rehabilitate, and worst of all, it utterly fails to protect."

"It is time to reinstate Capital Punishment in Michigan for the crime of first degree felony murder."

The well-dressed business people listened attentively as Patterson described four or five murders in gruesome detail.

• In 1973, a police officer, comes upon a gas station being robbed late at night, and is shot in the heart and killed by two escaped robbers already sentenced to life imprisonment. Patterson said he promised the two men they would get life imprisonment for killing the officer.

"They nudged each other when I said that and laughed. What's another life sentence to someone who already has been sentenced to life imprisonment?" Patterson asked the audience.

• On another day a little 11-year-old girl is playing in her front yard. Suddenly a truck stops, a man jumps out and grabs the child whose only defense against the attacker is to cry and scream. She's pulled into the cab of the truck still screaming and kicking.

"Two days later, miles away, she is found floating in a marshy swamp, her neck broken, her innocence ravaged by rape and sodomy. The autopsy concludes death by strangulation."

• An attractive 20-year-old female clerk, working alone in a Quick Pik store, is a victim of an armed robbery. She's taken hostage in a last minute decision. Her body is found later in a field, beaten and swollen, the object of a frenzied knife attack.

"Later, when statements are taken from the accused, it is discovered that after she was raped and her throat slashed and her body punctured with repeated plunges of the knife, she limply had raised her hand and grabbed the arm of her attacker and begged for death. The coward accommodated and plunged the knife down her throat.

Patterson said the defendant's own words were: "I twisted it until blood spurted out."

• Two walk-aways from a Marquette Prison Farm commandeered a vehicle in their escape effort and take as hostage a mother of five. When her usefulness as a hostage is over and she realizes that escape is impossible, she falls to her knees, clasps her hands and begs for her life because "I've got five children at home who need me."

"The prison trustee raised his stolen rifle, put the cold barrel on the forehead of this pleading woman and very simply blew the top of her head off," Patterson said.

• Patterson also described how Steven Judy, the last person executed for murder, killed a mother and her three small children in a neighboring state. He told how Judy took the mother from her car, raped her and then killed her in front of her children, ages four, three and two.

Then, one by one, he took the small children and drowned them in a nearby creek.

"What if the judge, for instance, would have fined Judy five dollars?" Patterson asked. "Wouldn't your sense of justice be outraged? What if he fined him $5,000? What if he sentenced him to one year for the crime? My question is, how can you put a price on human life?"

The outspoken prosecutor said that Ohio reinstated the death penalty on Monday of this week. "That makes 39 states that have gone back to capital punishment. I want Michigan to be the 40th," he said.

Th Oakland County Prosecutor informed the Rotarians he needs 320,000 petition signatures of registered voters by June, 1982 in order to have the capital punishment issue placed on the November 1982 ballot.

In a question-and-answer session after his speech, Patterson was asked if he had opponents to his push for capital punishment.

"The State Department of Corrections says we have strong enough punishment," he answered. "The penalty now for first degree murder is life imprisonment without chance for parole. But only 25 percent of murderers sentenced to life imprisonment serve out their full term," Patterson pointed out.

He named the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) as another forceful opponent of his drive for capital punishment.

But Patterson cited studies done by Isaac Ehrlich and Gordon Tullock, two expert econometricians, who statistically demonstrated that Capital Punishment does deter crime.

"Ehrlich, in a study entitled 'The Deterrent Effect of Capital Punishment: A Question of Life or Death' maintains that for every execution, 17 future victims' lives will be spared."

The United States Supreme Court, Patterson said, used Ehrlich's mathematical studies and reports to rule in favor of capital punishment in Gregg versus Georgia in 1976. The highest court was persuaded by Ehrlich's report "that if you raise the risks high enough, fewer people will take those risks." The Supreme Court analyzed Ehrlich's report and stated: "While it will not stop every person, for many others the death penalty is a significant deterrent."

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled in 1976: "Indeed, the decision that capital punishment may be the appropriate action in extreme cases is an expression of the community's belief that certain crimes are themselves so grievous an affront to humanity that the only adequate response may be the penalty of death."

Patterson concluded his speech by saying, "Thrill kills, cop killings and other such senseless, ruthless crimes have got to be deterred."

"Capital punishment deters crime. But even if it could be convincingly demonstrated that there is no deterrence with Capital Punishment, there would still be a need for that penalty on the basis that justice demands it."

Patterson also briefly outlined his campaign for the governor's office and said he hopes he can wrap up the petition drive for capital punishment as soon as possible so he could turn his full attention to his run for the top elective office in the state.

He received a very enthusiastic round of applause when he finished.

Families help 'Navy men'

By SUE McDONALD
ANP News Editor

On the second Monday of every month a group of Western Wayne County families gather for an evening of discussion and a potluck dinner. It might sound like an everyday church or club social gathering, but it isn't.

The families who gather at the American Legion Post in Garden City have something in common — a son or daughter has decided to enlist in the U.S. Navy, or is considering enlisting.

According to Navy recruiting officer AO-1 Petty Officer 1c Todd Hauter, the monthly gatherings are a way of bringing the families together to find out what the Navy has to offer the new recruit. It's also a way to calm any fears the enlistee or his or her family might have.

"It helps to ease the transition from civilian to Navy life," Hauter explained. "Then they know they're not the only ones going in."

Most of the monthly participants are entering the Navy through its Delayed Enlistment Program — signing up now and postponing the start of active duty for up to a year. For those the gatherings "gives them a chance to get together and see they're not by themselves," Hauter said.

The dinner meetings start off with the Pledge of Allegiance, which is followed by a guest speaker like this month's Garden City Mayor Vincent Fordell, who discussed the changing times in government.

The discussion also centers on what basic training, better known as boot camp, will be like and what kind of training the recruits will receive. Questions usually center on those areas, "and we answer as many as we can," he explained, admitting that every now and then he is asked how many ships are in the U.S. Navy. He answers matter of factly: "I don't know."

The recruiting station is situated on Ford Road in Garden City, and while the recruiters canvass much of Western Wayne County they concentrate in Westland, Garden City and Romulus.

Presently, the station has 30 persons in the DEP program, and the monthly meetings are drawing between 40 and 45 persons. Although the hall is a little large for the crowd, Hauter is looking to the future when there are even more young people in the Navy DEP.

The dinner meeting is similar to a program Hauter set up at the Southgate recruiting station, but for those meetings the officers supplied the sandwiches and beverages. To add variety, he came up with the potluck idea when he was assigned to the Garden City station.

Hauter admits that recruiters do have a quota — four recruits per recruiter per month — but meeting it isn't that difficult. According to Hauter, there's an interest in joining the Navy, the hard part is find recruits who are physically and mentally fit.

Recruits are tested in four different areas to determine their ability to accept responsibility, as well as undergo a physical examination.

The jobs offered to recruits stem from the testing, and Hauter stressed, the Navy is the only service that can offer training in nuclear power, "the Cadillac of Navy jobs," advanced electronics and six other advanced technical training areas.

Enlistees at the present fall into the 17 through 19 years and 23 through 27 years. Those college graduates interested in a stint in the Navy, Hauter tries to steer into the officer training programs, but has found that most prefer the technical training.

And while many think boot camp is all hard work, Hauter said that hard work can pay off for between 165 and 180 enlistees a year, who prove themselves in basic training and are selected to attend the U.S. Naval Academy.

Hauter admits that recruiting is much like working for an employment agency, and adds that at times he has acted as a counselor for some of the recruits, who might not be living up to their show of good faith like completing high school.

But it is providing that "common ground to make the individual aware that he or she isn't the only one" that appears to be working well for Hauter. And it is the potluck dinner meetings that are getting a "super response" from the recruits, their parents and families.

They're Navy people

When young people enlist in the Navy's Delayed Enlistment Program at the Garden City Recruiting Station, they're finding the transition to military life somewhat easier, thanks to a monthly meeting organized by recruiter AO-1 Petty Officer 1c, Todd Hauter. Hauter gets the recruits and their families together on the second Monday of the month for a potluck dinner meeting. Special guests speak to the gathering, and then the recruiter fields questions on what Navy life is really like. The potluck aspect of it helps to put the families at ease and lets the recruits know that they're not the only one entering the Navy. — ANP photo.

Here's some tips for Halloween treats

1. Never Trick-or-Treat alone. Go with a friend or in a group. Remember: Trick-or-Treating's more fun when there's more than one!
2. When Trick-or-Treating in an unfamiliar neighborhood, have at least an adult accompany your group. Remember: Grownups are people too, take one Trick-or-Treating this Halloween. You'll be glad you did.
3. Avoid Trick-or-Treating after dark. Decorate your costume with reflective tape so motorists can see you at twilight. Don't make the hospital one of your stops on this Halloween. Trick-or-Treat till the sun goes down.
4. Never walk along dark roads or wear masks that block your view of oncoming cars. Even if you're not a "ghost," you might be "invisible" to drivers, so stick to the sidewalk for safety.
5. Practice walking around the house in your costume before Trick-or-Treating. Fix any dangling ends that may cause you to trip or lose your balance. Your outfit should be scary and safe.
6. Keep your UNICEF collection carton in your Trick-or-Treat bag or use a piece of string to hang it around your neck while walking. Always keep one hand free for better balance.

7. Be careful when Trick-or-Treating around pets, scary costumes can frighten them too. Avoid bites and scratches by steering clear of dogs and cats, even those you know.

8. Never eat any unwrapped candy or fruit before letting your parents examine it at home. When in doubt, throw it out.

9. If you see someone causing trouble or damaging other people's property, stop at the nearest house and ask them to notify the police. Make this Halloween more treats than tricks, don't have fun at other people's expense.

10. Eating too much candy at once can make you sick. It's important to brush your teeth and have regular dental check-ups. Take care of your teeth, your smile will love you for it! These Halloween Safety Tips have been provided as a public service by the U.S. Committee for UNICEF and your local UNICEF Committee. To find out more about UNICEF and how you can help the world's neediest children this Halloween, call 800-228-1666, or write U.S. Committee for UNICEF, 331 East 38th St., New York, N.Y. 10016

State Police say C.A.R.E. successful

Michigan's Operation C.A.R.E. (combined accident reduction effort) received high marks in a just-released study by the state's Office of Highway Safety Planning, according to State Police Director, Col. Gerald L. Hough.

"The OHSP evaluation proves what we've known for a long time," Hough said, "and that is, C.A.R.E. plays a significant role in controlling personal injury and property damage accidents, especially on rural trunkline roadways." Hough said the study used data comparing accident statistics before and after the implementation of the C.A.R.E. program that began in 1977.

The high visibility traffic patrol program centered around heavy traffic volumes over the three summer holiday weekends (Memorial Day, July 4th and Labor Day) has been funded with Federal monies. OHSP officials have advised Hough that $350,000 will be authorized for the 1982 program leaving some $150,000 to be provided by the state. The program had an operating budget of $500,000 in 1981.

The evaluation study revealed that on holiday weekends, the average number of fatal and property damage accidents per day was lower in the C.A.R.E. program period than in the pre-C.A.R.E. period (prior to 1977). On rural trunklines, the average number of total accidents (both personal injury and property damage) per day on holiday weekends increased about 6.40 per cent, 2.63 per cent and 8.29 per cent less than expected in the C.A.R.E. program period from the pre-C.A.R.E. period.

"With the Federal grant money already promised for 1982, I hope the legislature will provide the additional funds needed to continue this very effective traffic safety program," Hough said. "The Office of Highway Safety Planning evaluation has provided a most complete assessment of the program's value and proves it to be an effective control in terms of accident reduction."

Funds OK'd for Probate Court

Wayne County Commissioners approved a $932,770 supplemental appropriation to continue Probate Court operations through the fiscal year ending November 30 as the result of a settlement before Circuit Court Judge John H. Hausner.

The original suit initiated by Probate judges to force commissioners to provide an additional $1,044,000, was scaled down when Board members agreed it would be impossible to close Juvenile and Mental Divisions of Probate as alternatives to the supplemental funding.

Commissioners, in an effort to trim a $20 million 1980-81 budget deficit demanded by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission, warned county departments during budget hearings last October to "live within their appropriations," but a series of lawsuits between the Sheriff, the courts and other units of government have sapped county funds, Board members pointed out.

Ghosts, goblins and Dracula, too

It's that time of year when ghosts, goblins and Dracula make their appearances - in costumes. And if you're staunch at heart, the ghosts will be at the Belleville-Van Buren Jaycees' "Haunted Dungeon" beginning Fri., Oct. 16, at the old township hall located at the corner of Main and Fourth street in Belleville. "Candy apples, hot coffee and fresh apple cider will be on sale by the Jaycees," said Teresa Clayton Jaycette president. A raffle will be held for a pair of hand painted Bert and Ernie pumpkins. Donated by the Pumpkin Factory on Elwell road and painted by Valerie Higgins, the pumpkins will be on display at the Haunted Dungeon. Raffle tickets will be on sale and the drawing will be

Oct. 30. For the children who can't wait to get into make-up, "Face Painting" by Patricia Suter will be available to get everyone in the Halloween spirit. According to Ted Clayton, Jaycee president: "We have the best dungeon ever, but we can always use more monsters." Anyone who would like to join the fun please call 482-6872 or Vice-President Roger Suter at 697-1361. The Haunted Dungeon will be open Oct. 16, 17, 6 p.m. to 11 p.m.; Oct. 23, 24, 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. Oct. 25-Oct. 29, 6 p.m. to 10 p.m.; Friday, Oct. 30, 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. Admission is 75 cents and group rates are available for groups of ten or more.

House clears mobile home owners 'bill of rights'

The State House has approved a series of bills which more clearly spells out the rights of mobile home park residents and their landlords.

Under the bills, mobile home park tenants would have the clear right to sell their homes in the park, while mobile park landlords could recover their premises if a tenant violated a lease.

Another bill in the set would give law enforcement agencies the authority to enforce traffic ordinances in a mobile home park.

Under existing law, a landlord may serve a notice of eviction to a tenant which will require the tenant to turn over to the landlord the property he or she has been using within 30 days.

However, the 30-day notice procedure applies only if there is no lease agreement. If so, the landlord need give no reason for the eviction. If the notice is given for non-payment of rent, the creation of a health hazard or continuing damage to the property the tenant can be required to leave within seven days.

This law also applies to owners of mobile homes who rent lots in mobile home parks.

Mobile home owners, however, when served with a notice to leave, face far greater difficulties than do the tenants of rented housing. The entire dwelling must be moved at considerable expense and a new lot must be found — which is not easy because there is a shortage of such lots in Michigan.

The mobile home owner may even be forced to put the home in storage and rent an apartment while searching for a new home site.

One of the bills would protect mobile home owners against arbitrary expulsion from mobile home parks.

The bill would permit a mobile home park owner or operator to obtain a summary judgment repossessing the site only if the home owner was in violation of state health requirements, was not maintaining the home in reasonable condition, or for non-payment of rent.

There has arisen within the last year some legal questions as to the right of a mobile home park resident to sell his or her mobile home on the site. There was, particularly, the question as to whether the park owner could refuse to allow an on-site sale because of the age of the mobile home.

One of the bills would make it legally clear that a mobile home's age or size could not be used as the sole reason for refusing to allow an on-site sale by the owner or for refusing to allow the mobile home to remain on the site.

The bill also lists a number of other items which a mobile home park landlord could not legally do.

It requires that written park rules be applied equally to all tenants.

A mobile home park landlord could charge a reasonable fee of not more than $30 to inspect a home before it is sold.

A landlord could not prevent the sale of a mobile home on site, at a price set by the owner, to any purchaser. However, the purchaser would have to be qualified for tenancy and the mobile home would have to meet the conditions of written park rules.

Skating, anyone

The Romulus Recreation Department has teamed up with the Mayflower Roller Rink to offer residents a "Recreation Night" at the roller rink, beginning tonight, Wed., Oct. 21.

Tickets may be purchased in advance at either the Recreation Department offices or at the roller rink for $5 each or purchased the evening of the event at the rink for $6.

Price includes skating, skate rental, pizza, soft drinks and other liquid refreshments. Skating will get underway at 7 p.m.

Dental Health

PREPARATION FOR FIRST VISIT

There has to be a first time for everything and that includes your child's first visit to the dentist. Much of the preparation will be up to the parents. Here are some suggestions:

Don't give your child the opportunity to hear "neighborhood experiences." It's best to tell a child about a dental visit the night before. Of course, always refer to the dentist as "our friend." Convey the feeling that dental visits are a part of growing up. Don't offer rewards or indicate that there is anything to fear. In fact, such words as hurt, grind, drill, etc., should be eliminated from the dental vocabulary. Say that your dentist intends only to examine and that he will always explain what he is going to do.

Make appointment day easy for your child. Make no other plans for him or her that day. If possible, the appointment should be made early in the day.

This may be the most difficult advice of all — but children are usually most cooperative if parents are not in the treatment room. Rest assured, all findings will be discussed with you after the visit.

Legislative districts come under scrutiny

It's time again for Michigan to reapportion its legislative districts on a one-person, one vote basis.

The State Constitution requires that this be done every 10 years as soon as the federal decennial census of the state and its political subdivisions is available.

Under the procedure set up in the Constitution, the task of drawing up the district boundaries on a population basis is the responsibility of an eight-member commission composed of four members from each political party and selected from four different sections of the state — the Upper Peninsula, northern part of the lower peninsula, southwestern Michigan and southeastern Michigan.

The four Republicans and four Democrats comprising the commission are selected by their respective state party organizations.

The Constitution says that commission will be convened by the Secretary of State within 30 days of the availability of the census data needed for the commission to do its job. After that official act, the "clock" starts running and the commission has 180 days to complete its work.

The state reapportionment commission has been appointed and has actually been meeting since June. But eh 180-day "clock" has not yet started ticking because the members representing the two political parties disagree over the availability of the census data needed for them to complete their work.

The Republicans claim enough data is available for the work to start. The Democrats say the necessary data is not in yet, and what they have to work with has a lot of errors in it.

Specifically, the Democratic members say there are three kinds of census data errors: areas on the map with no corresponding tabular data; tabular data with no spot on the map for it; and boundary problems between districts. The U.S. Census Bureau is working on these problems but they have not been resolved yet.

The final apportionment and districting plan must be published within 30 days after its adoption by the commission and becomes law 60 days after publication.

This entire process must be completed by early spring to allow candidates for the various House seats sufficient time to circulate their petitions prior to the filing deadline in June 1982.

If you are interested or concerned about how the legislative districts are reapportioned, I suggest you write to the Michigan Reapportionment Commission or the Republican and Democratic leaders of the house.

$208.5 million loss by torrential rains

Gov. Milliken seek fed aid for storm damage

Gov. William G. Milliken said he has asked President Reagan to provide emergency relief to help Michigan communities, businesses and individuals to cope with more than $200 million in damage caused by the torrential rains of Sept. 30-Oct. 1.

Milliken submitted to the President damage assessment data and other information that was not available when he first sought an emergency declaration, Oct. 2.

The most recent rainstorm, "falling on ground already saturated with record rain for the month of September, caused extensive flooding and other water-related problems throughout the area," Milliken wrote.

"Basements were flooded, power outages were widespread, bridges and viaducts were flooded, standing water blocked intersections, farmers' fields were inundated and roadways and drainage ditches were washed out," he added.

Affected were the counties of Wayne, Clinton, Genesee, Gratiot, Ionia, Kent, Lapeer, Lenawee, Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Montcalm, Oakland, Saginaw, Sanilac, Shiawassee and Tuscola.

The total damage figure of $208.5 million included public damage of $4.94 million, private damage of $42.16 million and agricultural damage of $161.4 million. In another 14 counties, agricultural damage so far has been estimated at $47.4 million — bringing the total damage for the month to $255.9 million.

Milliken also has written to the Small Business Administration (SBA), seeking an SBA Disaster Declaration and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, seeking an Agricultural Disaster designation. The agriculture disaster is being handled separately and the final request cannot be submitted until the harvest is in and final figures are compiled.

Milliken said that the departments of State Police, Public Health and Natural Resources and the Executive Office provided a variety of services to local units and individuals.

Local units, he added, reported expenses of $338,000 "for which federal reimbursement is either unauthorized or will not be requested."

The state, in the middle of an economic recession, with less to spend in Fiscal Year 1981 than in the previous year, is hard-pressed to cover these and other costs.

County roads have been particularly hard hit, he said, while gasoline and weight tax revenues, the traditional source for road maintenance funds, have been falling off.

"I find that the necessary response to alleviate the existing situation was beyond the capabilities of the state and affected local governments," Milliken wrote. "Accordingly, federal assistance is requested for the 18-county disaster-affected area as follows:

"(1) Contributions to local governments for emergency work and services pursuant to Public Law 93-288, Section 306(a) for the removal of health and safety threats such as washed-out roads and culverts and damaged storm sewers and county drains.

"(2) Low interest Disaster Recovery and Economic Injury Loans by the Small Business Administration for damage to homes, businesses and farms.

"(3) Low interest loans by the U.S. Department of Agriculture for damage to croplands."

Milliken added that it has taken several weeks to bring community life back to normal and requested that the President either declare a disaster or extend other appropriate relief under the Disaster Relief Act of 1974.

Romulus schools plan an evening with Sen. Faust

The Romulus Community Schools' Board of Education has invited State Senator, William Faust and several other state officials for a "town hall" meeting on October 29, 1981.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 7:30 P.M. at the Romulus Senior High School auditorium. It was organized by the Board to provide an opportunity for them to pose questions to the Senator and other state officials concerning the role of the state in education in Michigan.

Faust is the Senate Majority Leader and conceded to be one of the most powerful influences in State government today. The idea for the "town hall" forum developed at a meeting in Lansing between Faust, Sandra Langley, and Kenneth Berlind, two Romulus Board Members, and Romulus School Superintendent, William M. Bedell.

The meeting is open to the public and invitations have been officially extended to city officials, local service groups, senior citizens, and Board of Education from surrounding communities.

For further information, call Supt. William M. Bedell at 941-1600.

ASK THE CHIROPRACTOR

DR. RAY ELWART DR. DAN ELWART DR. MICHAEL SHAFT

Dear Dr. Elwart,
Q: What is the Neurocalograph (shown in last week's picture) used for?
A: The Neurocalograph is a sensitive instrument that detects temperature differences along the spine. In our office it is run along the spine, and when we see a temperature difference, that indicates nerve pressure. The chiropractor uses these readings as part of his evaluation to determine if the patient has nerve pressure. Then, along with other physical signs and tests, the chiropractor can pin point where the spine needs to be adjusted to remove that nerve pressure.

Dear Dr. Shaft,
Q: My son is 7 years old and still wets the bed at night. It seems we've tried everything. Is there anything you can do to help him (and me)?
A: This condition called enuresis is probably at this stage a neurological problem, meaning that the nerves in his body aren't working well enough to control his bladder functions and so then he wets the bed. Fortunately there is an alternative route to take with problem.

Chiropractors have had a lot of success in the past with bed wetters. Most times a misalignment of the spinal bones will cause an interference with the nerves coming out of the spine. This nerve pressure will distort the signal going to the part of the body it supplies, in this case the bladder. Chiropractic will remove this nerve pressure by adjusting the spine, and thus the body can correct the problem itself.

A Belleville man is $1,000 richer today because he participated in the "Fame Game Sweepstakes", sponsored by the Pic 'N' Pay Mini Mart, Inc., in Belleville.

Carroll was elated to discover that he had the winning ticket which allowed him to pick up $1,000 in free groceries.

The game is simple: a "Fame Game" ticket is given to each person over 18-year-old when they enter the store located at 9880 Haggerty. The participant scratches off the ticket to see of a match appears.

There is also a "Instant Winner" prize of $20.

If no match appears, the participant may fill out the back of the ticket and put it in the sweepstakes drawing box provided in the store.

On Friday, five tickets are drawn. The first one drawn wins $50 in free groceries, while the remaining four tickets are sent to Super Foods Service, Bridgeport, Michigan, for the Grand Drawing of $1,000.

Carroll of Birch Street won that grand prize.

Other winners included Dianne Wackerman of Belleville and Doreen May also of Belleville each $50 winners, and Ed Pittberner of Belleville won $20.

Homeowners-here's how to cut your fuel costs

Heating and cooling costs are becoming increasingly important factors in the home resale market, so local realtors are working to become expert energy conservation advisors.

"We noted in a recent survey that the Detroit area ranked well below most other major cities in average mortgage payment costs," said Robert D. Shimmin, president of the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR).

"But monthly utility costs, averaging above $100, were significant in raising the costs of home ownership here. As a result, we have intensified our efforts to help home buyers and sellers cut these costs."

Shimmin said WWOCBR is training a corps of instructors to teach other members how homeowners can become more energy efficient. Over the next few months, the course is expected to be offered to all of WWOCBR's 3,800 members.

"Studies have shown that energy efficient properties can command a five to 10 percent higher price," Shimmin said. "With prospective buyers showing greater concern for anticipated utility costs, a record of comparatively low bills will help these homes sell faster."

He said the new training program will enable WWOCBR members to better counsel sellers on preparing their homes to be efficient energy users as an aid in attracting buyers. It will also help them serve buyers in choosing homes that can be operated within assigned housing budgets, he added.

Part of a nationwide Realtor program, the program could help homeowners save as much as 50 percent on their annual energy bills, according to government officials. Residential energy use now accounts for about 20 percent of national requirements.

"On a nationwide basis, we expect this program to involve 100,000 Realtors within the next two years," Shimmin said. "The $10 million cost in time, effort and resources could lead to a saving of nearly a million barrels of oil daily throughout the decade."

"Realtors meet somewhere between five and 10 million homeowners and buyers in an average year. Thus, their energy saving recommendations could cover half the nation's housing in the next three or four years."

The program teaches Realtors to understand how a home uses energy and how to determine its annual energy cost per square foot. In addition it points out various methods for improving energy usage that can be recommended to sellers and buyers.

At Henry Ford Museum

Limousine John F. Kennedy assassinated in on display

The limousine in which President John F. Kennedy was assassinated will be featured in a Henry Ford Museum special exhibit on presidential vehicles, opening Oct. 24 and continuing for one year.

"The Presidents' Car: Providing Visibility and Protection for the Chief Executive" will feature five presidential vehicles from the Museum's Transportation Collection. The exhibit will focus on the conflicting demands of visibility and protection for the president in public processions.

In addition to the 1961 Lincoln used by President Kennedy, the exhibit will feature two other important presidential parade vehicles. The 1939 "Sunshine Special" Lincoln was used by Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman. The 1950 Lincoln Cosmopolitan "Bubble top" was used by Presidents Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson.

Two other Presidential vehicles will also be exhibited. A 1902 Brougham was used by President Theodore Roosevelt and was in White House service until 1928. A 1909 Baker Electric was part of the first White House fleet of motor-driven vehicles purchased during the administration of William Howard Taft. The Electric was used by Mrs. Taft and the wives of the next three presidents.

American presidents, as leaders of a democracy, try to make themselves available to the public. In motor processions, they want to be seen. But presidents are also potential assassination targets and must be protected in public situations. These two demands have been important in the design of parade vehicles for the president.

"The President's Car" uses three presidential limousines from the Henry Ford Museum collection to show how these demands are satisfied. The exhibit explores the impact of assassinations and assassination attempts as well as the technical steps taken to prevent assassinations.

The "Sunshine Special" was a standard 1939 Lincoln with a modified roofline to accommodate the disabled President Roosevelt. When the United States entered World War II, it was felt necessary to modify the "Sunshine Special" to protect the president against possible attack. In 1942, the car was armor plated and outfitted with one-inch thick glass and bullet-proof tires. The extra armor brought the car's weight to 9,300 lbs.

The 1950 Lincoln Cosmopolitan was the only convertible in a fleet of 10 Lincolns leased to the White House during Truman's administration. This official parade car was outfitted with special disappearing steps on each side of the rear fenders and special chrome hand grips for Secret Service men.

During the Eisenhower administration, this convertible became famous as the "Bubble-top." The four-piece, plexiglass cover for the rear passenger seat was Eisenhower's idea. He conceived the idea while riding through Richmond, Va. It was raining and the car's convertible top was up. The people along the route couldn't see the president and this bothered Eisenhower. He suggested the transparent covering and it was installed in 1954.

The 1961 Kennedy car was also designed with visibility in mind. One of its many innovations was a rear seat that could be raised 10 1/2 inches. It also had foot stands for Secret Service men. The limousine was equipped with three roofs — a metal top, a fabric top and a plastic "bubble-top". The car was originally painted a navy blue rather than the traditional black.

President Kennedy was assassinated while riding in this car in a motorcade through Dallas, Tex. on Nov. 22, 1963.

President Lyndon B. Johnson had the car rebuilt and updated by Ford Motor Company and Hess & Eisenhardt, who had collaborated on the original car. The car was armored and painted black. It was first used by Johnson in October, 1964 and later used by Presidents Nixon, Ford and Carter.

The exhibit will show examples of armor plating and armor fabric. Photographs will show the original construction of the Kennedy car and the rebuilding after the assassination.

Another section of the exhibit will deal with the social impact of assassination attempts.

The Kennedy car will be on view for the first time since it was officially retired from White House service in 1977.

Emergency burn care to be discussed

The National Institute for Burn Medicine a national, non-profit health care support organization based in Ann Arbor, in cooperation with the University of Michigan Burn Center is sponsoring an inservice on Emergency Burn Care at Wayne County General Hospital on Monday, October 26, 1981 at 8:30 a.m.

Theresa Moray, R.N., Head Nurse, Burn Unit, Chelsea Community Hospital (a component of the Michigan Burn Center) will lecture, show the film Emergency Burn Care, and answer questions.

Each year 100,000 people are burned in Michigan, 3,200 are hospitalized, and 400 die. Immediate, decisive care at the scene of the accident and in the Emergency Department not only means the difference between life and death, but can also reduce the severity of complications.

Providing excellence in care to all burn victims in the state of Michigan is a goal of the Burn Information and Triage System sponsored by the National Institute for Burn Medicine.

Ms. Arlene Betki, Critical Care Instructor, is coordinating this program and an invitation is being extended to all local medical providers; physicians, nurses, emergency medical technicians, and others. If interested contact Ms. Betki at 274-3000. No fee is required.

The National Institute for Burn Medicine is able to complete its programs because of the support of Jaycees, firefighters, and community organizations across Michigan. More information about the National Institute for Burn Medicine can be obtained by writing the National Institute for Burn Medicine, 909 East Ann Street, Ann Arbor, Michigan, 48104, Attention: Education Department.

Our Opinions

Seniors must 'fight' for what they need

We often read and hear of the economy's effect on the lives of senior citizens, those who can least afford rising prices and fixed incomes.

Not only have the seniors been hit in their individual pocket-books, they have seen a number of social services substantially reduced in their communities, programs of interest to the elderly such as Meals on Wheels, Homemaker Programs, aid to the visually handicapped and others. Many have felt helpless, rightfully so, at the avalanche of cutbacks in recent times.

The Westland seniors have seen enough. Faced with the loss of nearly all city-sponsored programs for the elderly, they have received permission to put their plight before the voters on Nov. 3.

A proposition on the general election ballot in Westland seeks a city charter amendment that would allow the city to levy an additional 33/100ths of one mill for 10 years "exclusively for providing activities and/or services to older persons." Approval would protect senior citizens programs in Westland from the whims of bureaucrats at any level of government for the next decade.

A noble cause, in our eyes. We urge the senior citizens to wage a vigorous campaign to inform the voters of the importance attached to this proposition. If properly presented to the electorate, we are confident the proposal will be approved despite trends towards defeat of any tax request.

For it is our view that voters will support services that are earmarked for a specific cause rather than the elusive catch-all, "general fund." Most citizens are well aware of the need to protect the human dignity of the "golden years."

We certainly are. Westland voters are urged to say "Yes" to the proposed charter amendment on Nov. 3. Only then will local senior citizens no longer be forced to beg for monies that keep worthwhile programs viable.

Poland is marked by persistence

By EDWIN FEULNER

WARSAW, Poland — A joke making the rounds now is that a high Polish official, while visiting Moscow, looked out this hotel window and said, "I am really happy I don't have to govern this mess."

Poland is a study in paradoxes — nominally Marxist yet deeply religious; disdainful of the Soviet Union, yet dependent on the Soviets for its economic stability; moving toward a quasi-democratic system more rapidly than any Western observer could predict, yet uncertain where this road will take her. The Polish economy is in shambles. People form lines automatically when a meat truck pulls up at a butcher's shop.

The unofficial rate of exchange for the Polish zloty is ten times higher than the official rate. A government official candidly advised me that the official exchange rate will be halved, to "reflect current realities."

The barter economy has reappeared. The Pole I met needed two cans of motor oil for this small car — the price was one bottle of vodka!

Coffee is available only in hard currency stores, but the vegetables from Poland's potentially productive agricultural sector are in plentiful supply, now that the crops are being harvested.

The coal will run out this winter, because the production rate in Silesian mines is down substantially. If it is a cold winter, watch for more strikes and riots.

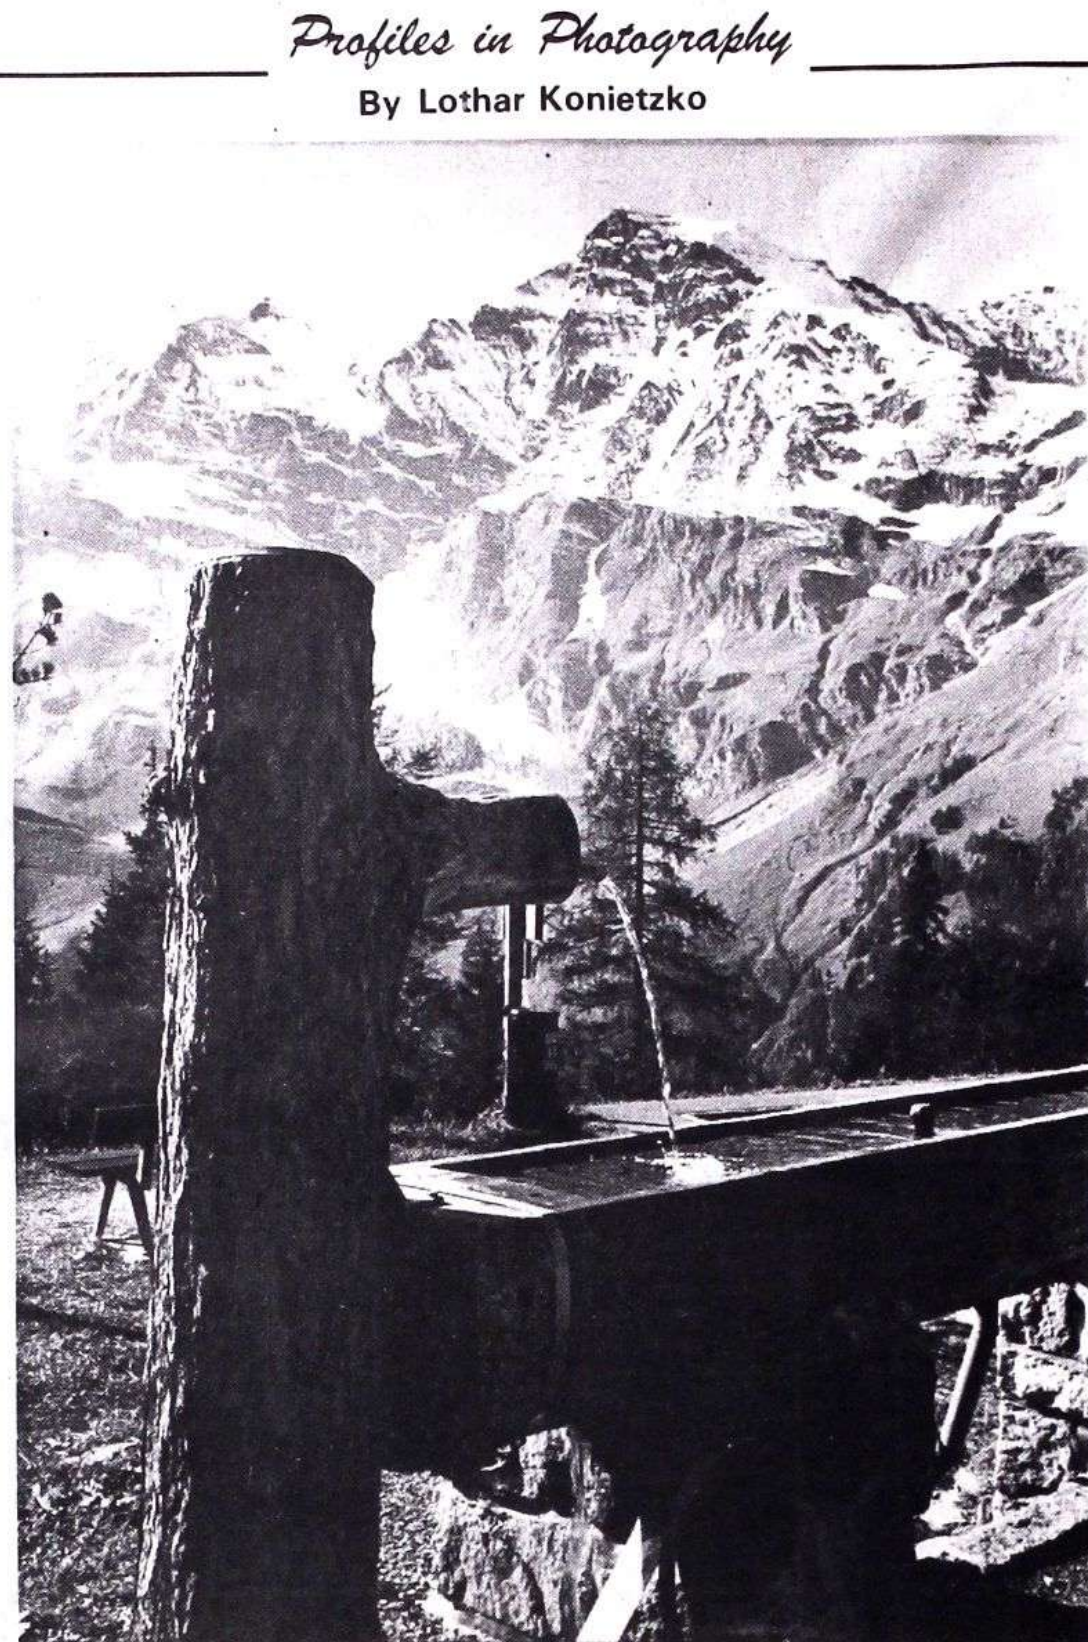

Yet there is a certain realism here. One outspoken professor (and, it seemed to me that all Poles are outspoken) said, "The Communist Party has ruined the Polish economy, not the Polish people." He continued, "We need to try the free enterprise system, so we can learn how initiative works to help the individual."

The problem in all this, a young journalist told me, is that the Polish people might lose faith in both the newly restructured Communist Party and in "Solidarity," the independent trade union. "The Poles are patient people," he said, "but if we become too busy with meeting our basic necessities of life, we will lose the advantages we already have gained and fall back into the old ways."

grated to Michigan, but most of them had lived here previously for a year or more, as well.

Of all who migrated to Michigan and applied for welfare in August, most came from Texas (12.7 percent), Florida (10.0 percent) or California (6.5 percent), according to the preliminary report. Ohio (6.0 percent), Illinois (5.6), Oklahoma and Indiana (4.3), Wisconsin and Alabama (3.8) and Arizona (3.0) followed. California and Wisconsin have similar or higher welfare benefits than Michigan. The other states generally have lower public aid payments.

Among those who fell into the "high-probability" sub-group of moving to Michigan for its higher welfare benefits, most came from Ohio (13.1 percent), Illinois (12.3) or Alabama (8.5). The rest of the sub-category came from Florida

Another viewpoint

Tom Brown picks up Sen. Faust's endorsement

"Tom Brown's knowledge of the legislature, coupled with his awareness of Westland's needs, makes him a particularly qualified candidate," Faust said. "He will be a mayor who can make decisions from a position of strength and experience."

Senator Faust's statement also announced his support of Planning Commissioner Ken Mehl and Councilman G. "Trav" Griffin for seats on the City Council.

"Both Ken and Trav have the kind of dedication and 'common sense' approach to government we need on the council," said Faust. "Their involvement in Westland gives them a head start when it comes to knowing what needs to be done - and an appreciation for what can and cannot be accomplished."

"I think it is important, especially in these times of budget cuts and economic uncertainty, that all levels of government join together to help solve our problems. I can't think of three people I would rather work with, or who will bring more to their jobs, than Tom Brown, Ken Mehl, and Trav Griffin," he added.

Senate Majority Leader William Faust today announced his support of Westland mayoral candidate Tom Brown.

"My personal regard and respect for Tom made him the only choice," said Faust. "I have worked with him in the legislature and here in Westland for years and know what kind of experience and expertise he will bring to the office. He will make an outstanding mayor - again."

Brown, who was Westland's first mayor in 1966, has served in the Michigan House of Representatives for the past 11 years. His district includes portions of Wayne, Westland, and Canton Township. Brown is chairman of the House Committee on Towns and Counties and serves as vice-chairman of the Committee on Colleges and Universities.

"Tom Brown knows more about this community than practically anyone else around," said Faust. "He played an integral part in establishing Westland as a city, in addition to being a Nankin Township Supervisor. And he has been involved ever since."

The Other Side of the Meridian

The public's right to know

Our editorial staff is already showing the scars of political campaign fatigue.

And there are still 13 days remaining before the battle is over, and the victors claim their spoils.

The area political mosaic that is being pieced together in these final days is one that would discourage even the most avid believer in "our system."

To the North, Westland is locked in a bitter struggle to determine who is the rightful heir to the throne that Mayor Tom Taylor has abdicated. To reach the top, a maelstrom of discontent has been created by those who hope to use "dirty politics" as a means of obtaining victory.

Candidates tires have been slashed. Political signs torn down. But, these are commonplace incidents — kid's stuff — as the cliché goes in politics. Now, as the "zero hour" approaches, a candidate reports that his family has been threatened to the point where his wife "has asked, is it really worth it?"

At a recent "Meet the Candidates" program I asked several council hopefuls, "Who in their right mind would want to run for city council?"

And, after hearing all the innuendoes and four-letter words about candidates, I am prompted to ask again, "Why would anyone in his right mind run for council or mayor or a government seat?" during these unstable times.

Yes, I can hear the replies. Duty. Responsibility. To serve our fellow man. And, then, what time in man's history has it ever been different? Stable? No time.

Then, there comes this tory of a man, Leonard Folmar, who has served Romulus for more than a decade as its clerk, who is accused of wrongly using his office. He has been arrested and charged with a felony on the eve of a campaign in which he seeks the highest office that city has to offer — the mayor's job.

Folmar says that the political forces who would keep him out of office have contrived and trumped up these charges and that he is innocent of any wrongdoing.

We hope that he and his attorney can prove he is innocent.

But, it is a matter of public record that Mr. Folmar has been accused and charged with obtaining services over $100 by false pretense, and we would be negligent in our duty and to our profession not to report it here.

We feel that Mr. Folmar should clear his name and be given every opportunity to do so.

Unfortunately, this incident comes on the eve of an important election.

But, uncompromisingly, we feel the public has a right to know.

Welfare migration study produces 'facts'

Only about 3.5 percent of all applicants for public aid in this state fall into sub-category labelled "most likely to have moved to Michigan to get higher welfare benefits," according to preliminary findings of an August study by the state Department of Social Services.

The sub-group was defined as persons who came from states with lower Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) or General Assistance (GA) payments, who applied for welfare here within three months of arriving, and who had either never lived in Michigan or who had previously resided here for less than one year.

By comparison, 83.1 percent of the applicants surveyed had been Michigan residents for more than a year. About 3.4 percent of the applicants (the remainder of the study group) also migrated to Michigan, but most of them had lived here previously for a year or more, as well.

Of all who migrated to Michigan and applied for welfare in August, most came from Texas (12.7 percent), Florida (10.0 percent) or California (6.5 percent), according to the preliminary report. Ohio (6.0 percent), Illinois (5.6), Oklahoma and Indiana (4.3), Wisconsin and Alabama (3.8) and Arizona (3.0) followed. California and Wisconsin have similar or higher welfare benefits than Michigan. The other states generally have lower public aid payments.

Among those who fell into the "high-probability" sub-group of moving to Michigan for its higher welfare benefits, most came from Ohio (13.1 percent), Illinois (12.3) or Alabama (8.5). The rest of the sub-category came from Florida

(6.9 percent), Texas (6.2), Indiana (5.4), Missouri and Mississippi (4.6), Kentucky (3.8) or Arizona (3.1). All of those states offer lower AFDC and GA benefits than Michigan.

About 70 percent of all migrating applicants (including the "high-probability" group) reported that they had lived in Michigan before for at least one year. More significant, perhaps, was the study indication that among those who came here from Texas, Florida and California (the top three contributing states), 82 percent said they had lived in Michigan previously for a year or more. From the four states on or near Michigan's borders (Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin), only 54 percent of the applicants claimed prior Michigan residency.

"Apparently there is a 'rebound population' of migrants," the report suggested. "That is, among the large numbers of Michigan residents who leave for the sunbelt, many return to their home state - Michigan."

The study also showed that only 29.8 percent of the migrating applicants used welfare in their previous state of residence while 70.2 percent reported that they did not receive public aid elsewhere. Even among the "high-probability" sub-group, only 39.1 percent said they received welfare in their state or origin; 60.9 percent did not receive assistance elsewhere.

The preliminary report was based upon 3,719 complete responses to a questionnaire given to all applicants for AFDC and GA in every Michigan county during August (about 36,000). The preliminary results were taken from the first two weeks of August only. The remaining completed responses will be tabulated and used in the final report which is expected to be done in December.

The survey was conducted in local DSS offices around the state by individual intake workers who asked the applicants the questions and filled out the answers given by the clients.

The preliminary report was based upon an essentially non-random sample — large counties such as Wayne tend to be under-represented, the report noted. The final report will include county-by-county data.

The study was ordered by MDSS Director John T. Dempsey in late June after state Representative Lad Stacey sponsored a House Concurrent Resolution that called for record keeping by DSS on a suspected influx of welfare recipients moving to Michigan from nearby states with lower benefits.

"I think these preliminary results show that the extent of the alleged welfare migration into Michigan has been vastly exaggerated," Dempsey said today. "Among other things, it suggests that much of what some people see as an influx of out-of-state applicants is, in fact, long-time Michigan residents returning home after looking for jobs or new lives elsewhere and being disappointed."

It would be a shame to cut our sub-poverty level benefits for 96.5 percent of our public aid recipients just to discourage the other 3.5 percent who may or may not have come here because we offer higher payments in two programs than some other states do.

Rotary says 'thank you'

EDITOR — This is a letter just to thank the Associated Newspapers the fine support you have given the Canton Rotary this past year.

C of C non-political organization

EDITOR — As President of the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce, I speak on behalf of the Executive officers, Board of Directors and Members, on an issue brought to my attention.

Several days ago I received word that a dinner is being held for a particular candidate running for an elected office in the City of Romulus. The location of this function is being publicized as the Chamber of Commerce Building.

At this point, I want to make it very clear that the Chamber of Commerce has not now, nor ever supported any political candidate or group. The Chamber of Commerce is not interested in partisan politics.

The Chamber is, however, most emphatically interested in issues and proposed legislation emanating from all governmental levels.

If citizens identified with business, industry, and the professions wish to retain the "free enterprise" system concept, positions on issues, considered to be the best for the entire community, must be established and conviction expressed through the organized medium of the Chamber of Commerce. Certainly every citizen must, or should be, interested in good, sound, efficient, economical, intelligent government.

Let it also be known to the public that the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce never had a building.

We merely leased an office space from the owner of the facility. The Chamber was located in this building for several years but since has relocated to a temporary location, that being 35350 Goddard Rd., Corner of Wayne Rd., Romulus, Michigan.

In ending, I would like to inform everyone that your Chamber of Commerce is here to serve you and continues to be the Viable Organization needed in our fine City.

Clearing up an endorsement

EDITOR — In your last edition prior to the primary in Westland, the AFL-CIO along with other unions was listed as having endorsed incumbent candidate Nancy Neal.

After the primary election, a retraction was made of the endorsements by the other unions.

This letter is to inform you that Nancy Neal did not, never has, nor does she now have the endorsement of the AFL-CIO.

The AFL-CIO endorses the election in Westland of Thomas Brown for Mayor, Charles Griffin and Kenneth Mehl for council.

Lothar's photos are great

EDITOR — My family and I have always enjoyed the photos in the Associated Newspaper taken by photographer Lothar Konietzko, and this week is no exception.

Wayne Dems on Mayoral Ball

EDITOR — The Metro Wayne Democratic Club would like to thank Mike Dombrowski for all the time, talent and gasoline he and his wife put in to make the metro Wayne Democratic Clubs fourth annual Mayor's Ball a great success.

We also would like to thank the Able Rental for its contribution in making the ball a success.

Vote on charter proposal a 'must'

EDITOR — For the first time in memory, Wayne County voters have the chance to do something about our Wayne County government.

I would urge every voter in the county to exercise their right to express their choice of the two proposals.

Regardless of your choice, it's time the voters of Wayne County demand to be heard, although the legislators, as usual bowed to a couple of political fiefdoms, and the charter, as presently drawn are far short of what is needed.

"It's one of the first of many steps we must take if we are every to have a viable, responsible county government."

"I have no desire to inject the race issue into this controversy. If some of the Detroit politicians are shaking in their boots, perhaps it's about time. (The old adage, give a man enough rope and watch him hang himself), may very well apply in more than one place in Wayne County."

If we pass proposal No. 2, we will have gained nothing. For an appointed executive is going to live and work with the rest of the commissioners, so we have the same old ballgame.

You scratch my back and I'll scratch yours, but if we vote for proposal No. 1, then the people will elect a County Executive who will hopefully be responsible to the voters and citizens of Wayne County, who can just as easily remove him from office if he proves to be inadequate for the position.

But whatever your thoughts on the matter, go vote. The voters of America are losing many chances to have a say in the placement of too many officials. And when we fail to exercise the only real privilege we have, what can we say or do? Think about it.

Taxes, taxes and more taxes

EDITOR — On September 8, I attended a Council Meeting at Westland City hall. At the meeting there were many taxpayers who complained about the financial hardship imposed on them by the dual collection of school and city taxes.

Many of these taxpayers pay their property taxes through mortgage accounts.

The Mortgage companies sent out statements to the taxpayers notifying them they were $1,000.00 or more short in their escrow account, and were given 30 days to bring their accounts up to date.

I am sure these taxpayers will not vote for any additional tax increases on the November ballot.

Senior says vote 'Yes' on amendment

EDITOR — It has come to my attention that a certain Westland mayoral candidate, a former city Parks and Recreation employee, in an attempt to woo the senior citizens of the community is promising to reinstate programs for seniors to previous year's levels.

My only question to the candidate is "HOW?"

Before the senior citizens of this community vote for this candidate they should ask themselves this simple question also!

With federal and state dollars to local municipalities shinking every year, and with the threat of the elimination of federal revenue sharing dollars (approx. $800,000) to the city, it is hard for me to understand how the candidate is going to reinstate these programs. Does he have a magic wand?

Putting politics and candidates aside there is only one way for the elderly of Westland to receive comprehensive services — that is to vote 'YES' on the proposal Charter Amendment which will appear on the November 3rd ballot. The Amendment will insure that the city, through its Department on Aging, despite the Federal and State cut backs anticipated, will have funds available for senior services for the next ten years!

land to analyze the candidates and their positions on important issues before marking their ballots. Do not fall prey to idle promises made by the candidates.

Challenge to 'Red ink' editorial

EDITOR — In regards to the Associated Newspapers' October 1 Editorial "Red ink isn't always Bad," I just want to say if you really believe in deficit spending why do you charge me for the newspaper? Or why do you charge me for an ad, I put in your paper?

You could go out and borrow the money to keep your paper going. After a year of operating like this I wonder what you would think about red ink.

Trustee appeals for Romulus tax hike

EDITOR — Taxes, Taxes, Taxes buzz words of the 80's that make the blood pressure rise and complexes redder. Words that are exploited by manipulators.

Of course, everyone's upset about taxes; revolutionary instincts are aroused and "No more!" is the battle cry.

But, wait a moment, Romulus voters are characteristically informed and thinking voters who, in the long run show amazingly good judgment in their choices. They are not easily stampeded into self-defeating actions.

Knowing that, I believe that on November 3rd, Romulus voters will show their independence and sound thinking by voting to salvage their educational programs so as not to become another dismal statistic in the floundering educational system of Michigan.

I won't try to defend the circumstances that have brought us to this unfortunate state, nor will I try to convince you that we don't need a major overhaul of our priorities and attitudes about money and management.

We all know that we have to find ways to economize and even more important, we have to find innovative ways to provide educational opportunities for our young people.

Meanwhile, days pass and we find ourselves closer and closer to the brink that will mean closing schools and depriving children of the most lasting and precious gift that we can give them, that of a decent education upon which to build a life.

Isn't your child, your neighbor's child, the children of Romulus worth the approximate twenty five dollars a year that this bonding issue will cost the average homeowner in Romulus?

Isn't our community pride at stake?

I believe it is, and I believe the voters will recognize that it is a small investment that will help set the new tone and direction in education and that Romulus will become a leader in that effort.

EDITOR — I stand corrected. I have met Mr. Bob Watkins before and I do know that he wrote his own letter.

... and stumps for election

EDITOR — If you were at the Westland City Council Candidates Meeting at Holiday Park, League of Democratic Voters, Westland Chamber of Commerce or The Wayne-Ford Civic League and wish you had a copy of what Mr. Griffin and Mr. Mehl had to say or if you were not there and wanted a copy of what they said, I have good news for you.

You can have a copy of what they say; it's easy, just buy a copy of the Westland Eagle for July 30th, 1981 page A-3 and August 6th, 1981 page A-3.

And to use the words of Ed McMahon; everything you would hear, or have said to you, is right there on those two pages, everything.

I, myself, could tell you about my being in the army (M.P.'s). But, that was over 17 years ago and not current, or I could tell you about having my own company and being a part of the business community until an injury side-lined me, but, that was 11 years ago and has nothing to do with the issues at hand.

No, all I can do is tell you, that, if I am elected to council, I will fight to make sure that any program that is brought up has been well researched and studied for it's benefits and drawbacks, and then taken through the affected area to see if the people, who have to pay for it, want it or not; knowing both sides of the program.

Or to tell you that, as a member of the council, I know that a city is made up of it's people and of it's businesses and you can't tax one to death and still stay alive as a city. So, I would fight to make sure that both people and business were given every break available through the city's spending habits, so as to make it more conducive to people to stay, and business to move into Westland.

And those that are already here to remain, without shifting the taxes and assessments from one to the other. And to fight to have those persons removed, who were appointed to places in the city that only drain off tax dollars and leave less money for those projects that deserve a better fate. And, hopefully, bring back trust in, and caring for, it's people and it's businesses.

Autumn

The trees of Autumn are in bloom
With colors brightly mixed.
Let's tarry in the woodland
As nature plays her tricks.

You cannot help but feel
The enchantment everywhere,
While breezes vibrate each leaf
To tantalize your stare.

The sunlight piercing rays Seem to Hypnotize,
Lighting all that once once was green
Right before your eyes.

The red and orange leaves
Like feathers flutter down.
A million tinted butterflies
Gathered on the ground.

It's no longer any mystery
For having such a season.
Nature's stage within the wood
Gives fascinating reason.

Majestics royal colors
In the Autumn of the year,
Is Summers' final curtain
As the winter snows appear.

Test your sensuality

My friend came home the other day from roving around the forested beaches all summer and she came over to have a cup of coffee with me. "Gee, this is just like old times," she said as I slopped the coffee over the top of the mug.

"Except we don't have a bunch of little kids playing in the other room," I answered. Before she said anything, or before I had thought of anything else to say, since I was busy thinking about the difference, she picked up a magazine lying on the chair. Leafing through it idly she let out a shout of laughter.

"Here," she said. "Let's take this sensuality test. Have you ever taken one?"

"Yeah," I answered, "I always flunk them."

"I'll ask you the questions," she grinned. "On the scale of one to ten how do you rate your sensuality?"

"I didn't think you had sensuality after the age of fifty. I thought it was more like tired blood." I got up and walked over to the little mirror hanging by my back door. I stared in it carefully.

"What's your answer?" she asked. "Well if I could find any lift to these legs I might rate it about one."

"Are you kidding? Fortunately this tired blood hasn't reached my head, and imagination is about all I have left. Give it a six."

"Aw, come on, you aren't taking this very serious test seriously," my friend uncrossed her feet on the adjoining chair and began to rub her ankles. "Speaking of tired blood..." she said.

"What's the next question?" "Do you ever take a luxurious bath with your husband?"

"Ha, with all the live stuff in this house the only way one can get a bath is to take it with someone."

"This means do you take a sexy bath with your husband?"

"With fifteen people banging on the door to hurry up and let them in? Give it a zero."

"I don't think you are taking this test seriously," she said again, rubbing her other ankle. "Gee, look how puffy that ankle is."

"How can one take a sensuality test seriously while looking at your puffy ankles?"

"Oh...next question. Do you think other men find you attractive?"

"I don't know whether this counts or not, but I would say yes, because just the other day a young man walked right up to me and asked where I had gotten the good looking dress I had on."

"Yeah? What did he want to know that for? But when you are a grandmother I would say that would count."

"That's what I thought, especially since he said it was his grandmother's birthday and he would like to buy one just like it for her."

"Oh wow! That deserves a ten, at least, wouldn't you say?"

"Yep. What's the next question?"

"If your voice low and husky and sexy."

"Not so much now that I've quit smoking..."

"You know, I don't think we are taking this test in the right spirit. I don't think your answers are what the author of this test was expecting."

"Then maybe I should ask YOU the questions."

"You're the literary one. If you can't answer them koshier than I'm sure I can't...my gosh, just look how puffy that ankle is..."

"Maybe we need a good dose of vitamins..."

MONA GRIGG

It means that being "fortyish" puts me in league with such luminaries as Ringo Starr, Jane Fonda, Natalie Wood and Francis, the Talking Mule.

It means there is every possibility that the life that was supposed to begin at forty may very well have begun without me.

It means that not only is it possible, it is a given fact that I, a mere babe (as babes go), am somebody's grandmother. (There are some compensations...)

And... (this is the one that sends chills up and down my spine and threatens to keep me awake nights)

It means that sometime soon I should really start thinking about what I want to be when I grow up.

On going from Miss to Ma'am

I wish I had never listened to Barbara Stanwyck.

Barbara Stanwyck once said: "Never lie about your age. Your lies will catch up with you."

I remember thinking at the time what an incredibly brave statement that was coming from the mouth of a glamorous movie star.

If you are very young and you are reading this, you are probably wondering why that was such a brave statement.

It was because, in the early 1950's, when I read that quote, stars were STARS. They were not people. They didn't get drunk or arrested or divorced or unduly impregnated without having some very good reasons for their actions.

Usually, the very good reasons for getting drunk or arrested or divorced or impregnated (unduly) were reported at length and regrettably by Louella Parsons and Hedda Hopper, the self-appointed Big Brothers (or Big Sisters, in this case) of the Hollywood scene.

But the one thing even Lolly and Hedda would not report, no matter what, was someone's age. In Hollywood in those days a star made a quantum leap from 25 to 65 with no stopovers in between.

Except for Barbara Stanwyck.

Barbara Stanwyck stopped off at 39. We knew she did because she made such a point of telling us she did. She was almost proud of it. I know now why. It was because she wasn't forty.

Something happens to a person when he or she is 39. I was 39 myself...once.

And, because of this incredible but absolutely useless memory for all things Hollywood, I remembered the Stanwyck story and, when 39 happened to me, I went around telling everyone.

And it appears that all those I told have this incredible but absolutely useless memory for all things having to do with a person's age, because every now and then one of them will say "Let's see, you were 39 in 19-hm, so you must be hm, hm now, right!"

What an incredibly useless thing to carry around in a person's head.

So now everyone in the whole world knows I'm fortyish.

Well, so what? After all what does being fortyish really mean?

It means I realize now that middle age doesn't begin at forty as I once believed, but rather at sixty, as my mother, who now believes it starts at eighty, tried to tell me.

It means I am now addressed as "ma'am" instead of "miss". Everyone knows that "ma'ams" are older than "misses". The unfair part is that "mistresses" are always "mistresses", no matter what. (It's about what you would expect though, isn't it?)

It means that I can no longer deny the fact that I, a mere sprite, was a blushing bride an entire quarter of a century ago. (I can't stand it.)

It means I don't recall other people, when they were my age being so young.

It means that nature is finally taking care of my wish for hair of a different color.

True meaning of 'TLC'?

The handicapped hurdle life's obstacles

Putting the pieces together

Foster grandparent Josa Martin helps resident, Pat Venney, put a puzzle together. The Foster Grandparent program is one of the ways the Wayne Total Living Center is campaigning to increase community participation.

To most people, TLC stands for tender, loving, care. For some very special individuals in Wayne and Taylor, however, it means that plus much more.

At the Wayne and Taylor Living Centers for the Developmentally Disabled, TLC (Total Living Center) is a way of life — it's home for the nearly 300 residents that live at the two facilities.

The TLC's, located at 4427 Venoy in Wayne and at 22950 Northline Road in Taylor, are "homes" in every sense for these individuals who are severely to profoundly retarded and physically handicapped.

While it is not feasible that these individuals could ever be totally independent, the homes provide extensive therapy and training so that each resident can reach their fullest potential.

Their campaign to help each resident become as independent as possible will be heightened this year because it is the "International Year of the Disabled Person". Proclaimed such by the United Nations and celebrated by countries throughout the world, this year is intended to bring a new awareness to the public of the handicapped's needs.

For each disabled individual, those needs will be unique so people participating in the IYDP will be involved in various activities. Some will be fighting for extended rights in government, others will be spreading information about handicap services that are available and still others will be teaching the public about their lifestyles.

For the residents of the Total Living Centers, their individual goals will differ but they're all striving toward a common goal of attaining full community participation.

"Our goal is to make them as independent as possible," Paula Ingalls, Habilitative Nursing Coordinator at the Wayne facility, explains. "We want to accustom our residents to the community."

She added that it is not something to be achieved overnight. "The community is not ready to accept all of our residents just yet but things are improving."

Until recently there was virtually no involvement from the community with individuals having similar disabilities as the TLC residents. The public's reaction to seeing the TLC residents is often one of misunderstanding, Ms. Ingalls stated.

"Often a resident will reach out to a person walking by just because she or he wants a hug," Ms. Ingalls continued. "That person might not understand and think that the resident was trying to harm them."

The public's reaction isn't always one of withdrawal. Ms. Ingalls recalls the first time some of their residents went shopping as an outing with the school program. "By the time we got back to the school, the kids had collected balloons, candy bars and one even got a haircut," she says. "Everyone wanted to do something for them."

"We would like people to be aware," Mrs. Moulton stated. "We welcome people to come visit us."

Medical group pays tribute to Belleville M.D.

Dr. S. Phillip Grillo of Belleville maintained a quarter century of membership and service in the American Academy of Family Physicians (AAFP) — the nation's largest medical specialty organization.

In a letter to the local family doctor, the then AAFP President Sam A. Nixon wrote: "Because of the activities of the Academy and busy individual physicians like you, family practice has made incredible strides. In fact, this growth has been unparalleled in the history of medicine."

"Today, family physicians enjoy a status within the medical community which never would have been possible without the support you and other members have provided."

Dr. Nixon continued, "And while our job is not finished, your efforts as a long-term member have enabled us to become a well-established specialty and gain the respect of our colleagues in medicine."

More than 7,000 physicians have maintained membership in the 50,000-member AAFP continuously since February 1954 or before. The Academy expressed its gratitude to these members last month in a special ceremony at its 1981 Annual Convention and Scientific Assembly held in Las Vegas. The members received a silver pin and certificate noting their achievement.

Family practice is one of medicine's newest primary care specialties that focuses on comprehensive and continuing health care for each patient, regardless of age or sex, in the environment of his or her family and community.

This is National Business Women's Week Hats off to America's working women!

THIS IS NATIONAL BUSINESS WOMEN'S WEEK and the local observance is sponsored by the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW). The organization urges all citizens in the area, all civic and fraternal groups, all educational associations, all news media and other community organizations to join in this salute to working women by encouraging and promoting the celebration of the achievements of all business and professional women as they contribute daily to our economic, civic and cultural purposes.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS working women constitute almost 45 million of the Nation's working force and are constantly striving to serve their communities, their states and their nation in civic and cultural program, and

WHEREAS major goals of business and professional women are to help create better conditions for business women through the study of social, educational, economic and political problems; to help them be of greater service to their community; to further friendship with women throughout the world, and

WHEREAS all of us are proud of their leadership in these many fields of endeavor,

NOW, THEREFORE, I JUSTIN EMERSON, Mayor of the City of Belleville, by the authority vested in me, do hereby proclaim October 18-24 as National Business Women's Week.

Home of bride's parents scene of September rite

French Lick Resort in Indiana was the honeymoon destination for the newlywed Fred E. Hudsons who are now making their home at 14045 Elwell Rd., Belleville.

Marilyn J. Vincze, the daughter of Vendel and Margaret Vincze of 9470

Bunton Road, Willis, became Mrs. Hudson in a pre-autumn ceremony conducted by the Hon. Geraldine Greeth. The September 12 rite took place in the garden of the bride's parents home where some 250 guests were assembled for the wedding.

Kathy Rairick of Belleville, soloist for the occasion, was accompanied on the guitar by Jack Keelan. Musical numbers included "Lara's Theme," "You Needed Me," "The Rose," "You Are So Beautiful," "The Wedding Song" and "September Morn."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a white gown designed with a Queen Ann neckline, empire waist, bishop sleeves and a sunburst pleated skirt which terminated in a chapel train. Venice lace appliques and seed beading accented the bodice and hemline.

Her silk illusion Camelot mantilla, trimmed with Venice lace appliques, drifted to waltz length. Completing her bridal ensemble was a colonial arrangement of white roses, lilies of the valley and blue baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Lynnette Viers of Ypsilanti who wore a baby blue gown and a headdress of blue batchelor buttons and white roses and held a bouquet of matching blooms.

The bridegroom, the son of Ralph Hudson of Detroit and the late Helen Hudson of Plainwell, to serve as best man.

At the reception which followed at the Vincze farm, the bride's mother received in an aqua gown to which she pinned her corsage of white roses and blue baby's breath.

The bride, who works at the Belleville Animal Hospital, is a graduate of Lincoln High School and Washtenaw Community College. Her husband graduated from Lake Michigan College, is a member of the Belleville Kiwanis Club, the Michigan Heart Association and the Red Cross, and is employed by Detroit Edison Company in Detroit.

OES marks 91st birthday

The 91st birthday celebration of Belleville Chapter No. 73, OES, was held at the Masonic Temple Oct. 7, beginning with a dinner served by the Rainbow Girls.

The Worthy Matron, Florence McKelvey, was mistress of ceremonies and the address of welcome was given by the Worthy Patron, Charles McKelvey. An honorary member, Marjorie Gifford, gave the responses, and Chaplain Connie Gubaci, the invocation.

Past Matron Katherine Spring, the oldest member in line of service, cut the first piece of the birthday cake which was made by a member, Nancy Carey.

Chapter was re-opened with the following introductions taking place: Past Grand Matron Dolores Blackburn; Past Grand Patron Harold Koch; Grand Conductress Shirley Endicott; Grand Committee Member Kay Parker; Past Grand Organist Sally Wallace; Worthy Matrons and Worthy Patrons; Wayne County Association Officers; Past Matrons and Past Patrons and Honorary and Life Members.

Past Patron, Vincent Goodnuff, was presented with his Life Membership Certificate by the Worthy Patron.

The evening being dedicated to the Past Matrons, Past Patrons, Life Members and Honorary Members, the following members conferred the degrees of the order upon two protean candidates, Aldine Potter and Myrtle Warren: Presiding Matron, Edna Mae Florian; First and Second Lecture, Mae Fielder; Associate Matron, Effie Kerbyson; Conductress, Ruby Clayton; Associate Conductress, Rose Ann Welt; Secretary, Katherine Spring; Treasurer, Ada Sager; Adah, Betty Hagerty (in place of Marie Murphy); Ruth, Florence Sugars; Esther, Elda Bohl; Martha, Lenore Gaddy.

Also Electra, Pauline Quinley; Chaplain, Frances Cothorn; Marshal, Roberta Pond; Organist, John Cockwell; Soloist, Don Williams; Warder, Connie Gubaci; Sentinel, Jim Cavan; Associate Patron, Leon Boldt; First and Second Lecture, Kenneth Ely; Obligation, Edgar Quinley; Secret Work, Max Ingall; Signet, Harold Clayton; Scriptures and Last Lecture, Vincent Goodnuff; American Flag, Glenn Martin; Christian Flag, Faye Ingall; Eastern Star Flag, Helen Cockwell; and Escorting Conductresses, Viola Spittler and Sandra Sanders.

Guests were present from Detroit, Dearborn, Trenton, Union City, Lincoln Park, Garden City and other neighboring cities.

Evelyn Griffith named BPW 'Woman of the Year'

MRS. GRIFFITH

The annual accolade, "Woman of the Year", for the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club went to the club's current recording secretary, Evelyn Griffith, at the October meeting held at Faith United Methodist Church in Denton.

Mrs. Griffith, who works as a secretary for the B.C. Contractors of Ypsilanti, is co-chairman of the Strawberry Festival committee, also serves on the membership and humanitarian committees and attends district meetings. In the past she has served as chairman of the membership committee and on the finance committee.

An active member of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville, she sings in the Chancel Choir, is active in the United Methodist Women and has taught Sunday School and Bible School.

Piano playing and singing are favorite pastimes and while Mrs. Griffith and her family lived in Mississippi, she accompanied a gospel singing quartet.

Her hobbies include ceramics, knitting, cake decorating, reading, collecting salt and pepper shakers and the Northern Retreat.

She and her husband, Carnegie, reside at 49743 West Huron River Dr., Belleville. Their four children are Eugene of Grand Rapids; Deborah Krywy of Belleville and Christina and Ben, at home. They also are proud to have three grandchildren on their family tree.

Dan Dildine, Roxanne Morris exchange marriage vows, rings

New Boston Baptist Church was the setting September 19 for the double ring rite which joined Roxanne Morris and Dan Dildine in holy matrimony.

The Rev. James Southward presided at the six o'clock ceremony before an altar appointed with daisies, pink roses, purple-tipped carnations and baby's breath with a trio of ivory candles at center.

Rosealee Southward was at the organ to play and sing "Endless Love".

The daughter of Rex and Veronica Morris of 15700 Haggerty Rd., Belleville, the bride was escorted up the aisle by her father. For her wedding day she donned an off-white gown of pearly satin distinguished by a lifted waistline and bodice of mandel lace with a wedding ring collar and long sleeves. Accented by a chapel train which drew up into a bustle later in the evening, the A-line dress was made by Barbara Dildine, mother of the bridegroom.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion, also made by Mrs. Dildine, was secured by a little Camelot cap of mandel lace. A nosegay of white carnations, pink roses and baby's breath completed her bridal finery.

Susan C. Smith of Ann Arbor, a friend of the bride's since grade school, was chosen to be maid of honor. She carried a nosegay of white carnations tipped in purple, pink roses, daisies, statice and baby's breath to harmonize with her floral chiffon gown. Pale lavender was used for the halter style bodice and short cape and two shades of lavender for the floral printed wrap-effect skirt.

Appearing in identical gowns in darker shades of lilac were the bride's sister, Sandy Armstrong of Belleville, and their cousin, Debbie Signorelli of Willis.

Youngsters in the bridal coterie were the bride's 7-year-old niece, Bridgette Weise, and her 11-year-old nephew, Blaine Armstrong, both of Belleville.

For her role as flower girl, Bridgette wore a little frock of dark and light lilac similar to the senior attendants' gowns. Made by the mother of the bride, the dress was complimented by a basket filled with carnations, daisies, statice and baby's breath.

The son of Harry and Barbara Dildine of 2105 Alice, Ann Arbor, the bridegroom asked his best friend, Gary M. Loy of Milan, to serve as best man. Others on the esquire side were Dave Dildine of Whitmore Lake and Duane Dildine of Highland Beach, Fla., both brothers of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Morris chose for the occasion a cream taffeta formal gown with an overlay of brown chiffon while the bridegroom's mother donned a long gown with a brown chiffon print over qiana. Both were honored with corsages of rosebuds.

Following their wedding reception at the Romulus Progressive Club, the newlyweds departed for a week-long honeymoon in Atlanta, Mich. and other parts of the state. Since their return they have taken up residence at 6570 Cowell Rd., Brighton.

Both young people are employed at Ann Arbor Coca-Cola, the bride having graduated from Belleville High School and her husband from Pioneer High in Ann Arbor.

The rehearsal dinner, held at Haab's in Ypsilanti, was hosted by the Harry Dildines and son, Dave.

Study Club hears Social Security rep

The October meeting of the Woman's Study Club, held in the parlor of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville, had Frances Heimes-Savickis as guest speaker for the evening.

Field representative of the Social Security Office in Inkster, Department of Health and Human Services, Mrs. Savickis talked to the group about the major changes made recently in the Social Security law and how they affect us. Although in many cases the changes are minimal, they will affect some students, parents, Medicare patients and those on disability as well as many others to some degree. Following her presentation, she fielded questions from the floor.

Wilma Petrasky, Lucille Touse and Marie Burns, members of the Public Affairs Department, were in charge of the meeting.

Hostesses, Helen Miller and Sye Chen, later served cider, donuts, fruit and cheese from a Halloween-accented table. Each member was given a trick or treat bag to take home.

Following the program the business meeting was conducted by Arlene Smith, president, who urged members to attend the annual Ingathering Nov. 7 at Girlstown. She also suggested they take a household paper item as a gift.

The Nov. 11 meeting, to be held at the same location, will be planned by the Education Department.

Potts, Snyder to wed

The engagement of their daughter, Pamela Jo Potts, and Kenneth James Snyder is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Potts of 38230 Westvale, Romulus.

The bride-elect graduated from Aquinas High School and is currently pursuing a nursing degree at Wayne County Community College. She is employed at Wayne Living Center for Seniors in Wayne.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Snyder of 14161 Conover Pl., Romulus, the prospective bridegroom attended Romulus High School and is working for Arrowsmith Tool and Die in Southfield.

As yet no date has been set for the wedding.

MISS POTTS

WOTM to attend state confab

The Women of the Moose held a chapter meeting Oct. 12 during which Sophie Wirts, sponsored by Doris Martilla, was enrolled. The Mooseheart committee was in charge of the evening and shared the Christmas Walk with the Moosehaven committee.

Those who forgot to bring Christmas-in-October gifts may bring them to the Oct. 26 meeting.

The Moosehaven committee announced it is selling handmade toys as a money-making project.

The state convention will be held at the Wayne Moose Lodge Oct. 23-25 and Doris Martilla will receive her green cap on the closing day.

Two dates to add to your calendar are Oct. 26, the business meeting at the VFW, and Oct. 27, Sara Coventry party at Helen Jacobs' home.

Library to hold Halloween program

"Thrills and Chills", a Halloween program for elementary school children, will be presented at 7 p.m. Oct. 29 at the Fred C. Fischer Library.

Those attending will hear spooky stories and poems and will also be able to play games and join in a costume parade.

Refreshments will be served to all children, ages 5 to 11, living in the Belleville area who care to attend.

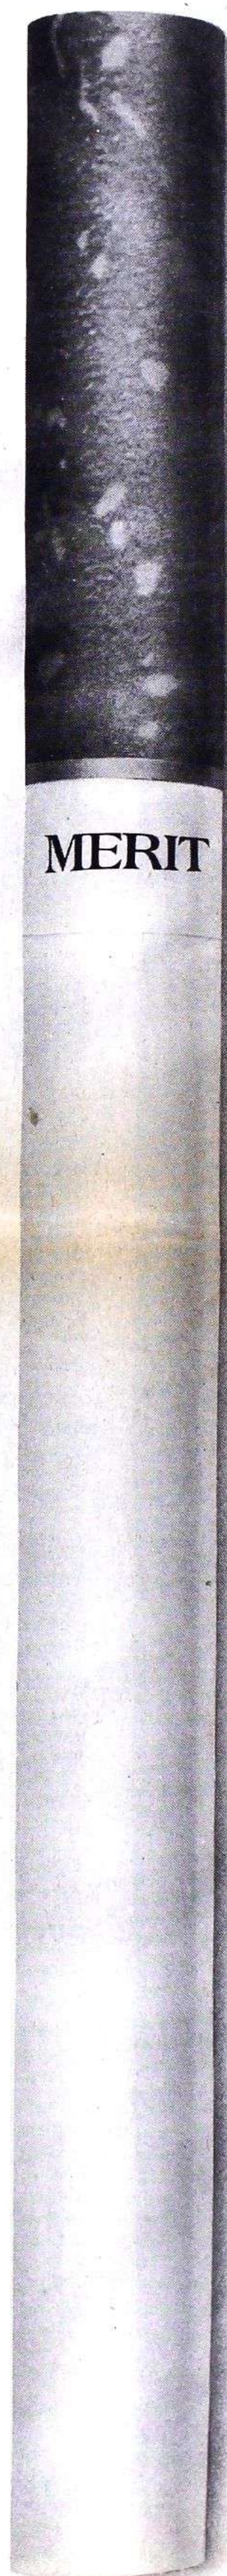

Parents are asked to register their children for the program by calling 699-3291 or by stopping in at 167 Fourth Street, Belleville.

Doctor on call

Beware-the pesky flu season is upon us

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Ernest Sorini is chief of Emergency Room Services at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne. He served his internship and residency at the University of Utah Medical Center and has been in emergency medicine for five years. If you have health questions for Dr. Sorini, contact him care of Associated Newspapers Inc., P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Michigan 48184.

DR. ERNEST SORINI

Judging from the content of many recent TV commercials, it appears as though the cold and flu season is descending upon us again. I've always been fascinated by the various approaches that the Madison Avenue marketing wizards take in order to sell cough and cold remedies.

I remember when it used to be fairly simple-minded and straight forward—a pretty young lady with a frown on her face, presumably because her nose was all stuffed-up, was asked by an invisible voice to exhale through her nose onto a glass plate called the "nasograph." I have never seen or used an actual nasograph, and am beginning to have serious doubts as to whether there is such an instrument. Within minutes after plunging the tip of a plastic spray bottle of wonder medicine into her nose, maintaining a calm, reassuring smile all the while, the lady is easily able to virtually cover the entire nasograph with steam from her now cleared nasal passages.

The next era of anti-cold medication advertising was undoubtedly spawned by an advertising executive with shades of sadomasochistic thinking. This genre of advertising usually depicted a gentleman who looked like someone whose senior high school class voted him "most likely to become an innocent bystander." The advertisement pictures this unfortunate guy with three catastrophes going on inside his head simultaneously—a ball peen hammer pummeling the right side of his brain; a frayed hemp rope pulling the two sides of his brain together; and a thunderstorm deluging the left side of his brain with lightning, thunder and rain. It's obvious that this poor guy needs one of two things sent to his head on an emergency basis—a cold medicine or the army corp of engineers.

The most recent generation of TV advertisements was written by college graduates who haven't yet learned that an adjective is not composed of fourteen words hung together with a series of hypens. It is difficult for me to even imagine the concept of a "coughy-sneezy-achy-itchy-dopey-grumpy-bumpy-lumpy-so-you-can-get-some-rest medicine. This commercial is another example of how the advertisers bet millions on bad grammar and poor logic—and win!

Unfortunately, people have come to expect a pill or other nostrum to cure all their aches and pains. My mother told me a long time ago, "When you have a cold, if you don't take medicine it lasts seven days. If you do take medicine, it lasts a week." The wisdom conveyed by this message is that although it is possible to mildly alleviate some of the symptoms of a cold by the use of medicines, nothing cures the cold except the passage of time.

In truth, aspirin or Tylenol for mild fever, aches, and pains which accompany the common cold, are as effective as any of the over-the-counter remedies. If symptoms besides cough, runny nose, mild fever, and muscle aches develop, one should consult their doctor. After all you may be developing something for which the cure is a . . . tonsillitis—bronchitis—gastritis—pneumonia—so—you-can-get-some-rest medicine.

For senior citizens

PCHA to offer free health check-ups

Health screenings for persons age 60 and over will be offered monthly at no charge by three hospitals of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) beginning in November.

The new program, "Discover Good Health," is being funded by an $80,041 grant recently awarded to PCHA by the Out-Wayne County Area Agency on Aging, with Title III grant monies through the Older Americans Act.

PCHA is contributing a match of $12,945, mostly through in-kind services, to help fund the new program.

PCHA will be inviting persons 60 years of age or older in Out-Wayne County to "Discover Good Health" by participating in free health screenings and taking advantage of health education, information, counseling and referral services.

The three hospitals initiating the program in November are Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, Outer Drive Hospital in Lincoln Park and Heritage Hospital in Taylor. The Authority plans to add a fourth facility, Seaway Hospital in Trenton, to the program next spring.

The on-day health screenings will be offered at three locations monthly, either at the hospital sites, or at a community location accessible to area senior citizens.

The first screening will take place at Outer Drive Hospital, 24600 W. Outer Drive in Lincoln Park, on Nov. 11, from 8:30 a.m. until 12 noon, and 1 to 4 p.m. Seniors should call for an appointment, at 386-2000, extension 346. The screening process takes about an hour and a half to complete.

The schedule of future screening dates and locations is being determined. Once the complete schedule is set, the information will be publicized through the media and senior citizen networks.

The Authority will work with city and township governments and community agencies to maximize outreach to senior citizens in the 34 out-Wayne County communities. Many of the screenings will be held at senior citizen gathering places such as nutritional sites and community centers. Agencies or individuals who want more information about the program can call 722-3308.

The program planners hope to service approximately 50 persons at each screening. There is no other eligibility requirement other than the minimum age of 60, but special effort will be made to reach seniors with the greatest social and economic need for health service.

The health screenings will include tests for medical conditions such as hypertension, glaucoma and anemia. Participants also will be given blood tests, hearing and vision exams, TB skin tests and respiration checks, breast exam and urinalysis. Follow-up counseling, health information, referral to medical resources and health promotion information will also be components of the program.

PCHA is a multi-hospital health care system which owns and operates five hospitals in Southeast Michigan. In addition to the hospitals mentioned earlier, a fifth facility, Beyer Memorial Hospital, is located in Ypsilanti. The Authority consists of 24 member communities in southern and Western Wayne County and eastern Washtenaw County.

WCGH to mark its 150th anniversary

Wayne County General Hospital will honor its 150th anniversary in 1982, and plans have begun for a year-long celebration peaking with a testimonial banquet in late spring or early summer, according to co-chairmen of a temporary steering committee organizing festivities for the event.

Located at Michigan Avenue and Merriman Road in Westland, the hospital was established even before the State of Michigan was incorporated, and at one time encompassed acreage as far as one-third of a mile south, and to the north as far as Palmer Road.

In the past, the hospital managed its own post office, fire station, and railroad depot, an artificial lake, and a lighted softball diamond that was then one of only two in the state—the other at Traverse City.

The hospital's first x-ray machine and a functioning 50-year-old fire truck are among exhibits possibly featured in tentative open-house tours throughout next year, said Michael J. Bradley, a committee co-chairman along with Peter W. McManus. Both are members of the County Board of Institutions, the hospital governing body.

Bradley is a Ph.D and prominent attorney, and former District Court Judge in Westland. He and McManus have both been patients at Wayne County General Hospital and both praise its development and quality of health care.

"I grew up in this area, in the shadow of the hospital," emphasizes Bradley, "and me and my family have been appreciative patients." As a youngster, Bradley played on the unique lighted softball diamond without realizing how special it was at the time, he said.

Very soon the temporary steering committee will solicit a permanent anniversary committee of numbers of other chief community leaders to guide the celebration activity, said McManus. "We want participation from across-the-community," he stressed. "The sesquicentennial will include affairs from formal black-tie dinner to outdoor picnic and fun contests for all ages." Bradley added:

"In all these years, the hospital has had numbers of doctors and numbers of patients who have since achieved national or international stature, and we will be calling upon them to point out the level of quality and expertise our institution has acquired in 150 important years."

As a public facility mandated to treat the indigent, the hospital has been a long-time burden on financial resources of county government, but a recent agreement giving autonomy to hospital physicians is showing signs of relief for the county budget.

At the hospital since 60 physicians there with County approval organized into a private firm contracting medical services, rather than working as employees, revenues are up more than $5 million and rising. Patient bed-days are up more than 1000 monthly than in 1980, although the plan has been in effect only since July.

"It appears to be a happy coincidence that the hospital is taking off towards financial independence in the year that we're celebrating a milestone," McManus exclaimed. "While hospitals are closing all around, ours seems blessed with a rebirth."

Together with fun events in 1982 celebrations, said Bradley, the hospital will display and emphasize what he called its exceptional "modern capability, one of the best of its kind in the nation." He noted that the hospital is affiliated with the University of Michigan medical school and is the emergency disaster center for western Wayne County, especially for possible accidents at Detroit-Wayne County Metropolitan Airport.

"We are on a level with the best places in the country for emergency treatment of any kind," McManus declared. "I can imagine only a few that can beat us in most areas."

Another aspect of the sesquicentennial will be to completely update and document the history of the hospital. The most recent bound journal does not include the last 50 years or thereabouts, although enough information is chronicled and available for printing when financing is sufficient.

From the ashes

Although a fire leveled the church in October of 1978, members of the congregation of Community United Methodist Church of Romulus have managed to build anew their "house of the Lord."

And, on Sunday, Oct. 18, with recently installed minister Margery A. Schleicher, along with District Superintendent Rev. Robert Selberg, offering prayers of consecration, the congregation returned to their new home, a home that cost approximately $350,000.

On hand to reminisce about the church's early beginnings was Ada Scott (at left) who recalled the day when the cornerstone of the old church was laid in April of 1903 and described the joyous occasion when the church was dedicated on Feb. 15, 1904.

On Oct. 23, 1978, fire destroyed the building. And from Oct. 30, 1978 until Sept. 23, 1979 a new building was approved at a cost of $350,000, approximately 100 times the cost of the original building.

On Sunday, members from the congregation who number over 300 and reside in Belleville, New Boston, Romulus and Wayne gather for the special "Service of Consecration" and heard Dr. Selberg read a congratulatory message from Bishop Edsel Ammons, regional head of the United Methodist Church.

Are you making money mistakes?

Although inflation may erode savings, it should not be viewed as an irresistible force. You can do something to counteract its effects, and help yourself to greater financial security.

Here's a quiz which exposes those pitfalls most threatening to your financial plans. If you find yourself answering yes to half of these ten questions, you are probably headed for financial trouble. If that's the case, remedial steps may be needed.

• DO YOU ROB PETER TO PAY PAUL? If yes, and you put off paying some bills to use the money to pay others, you are living beyond your means. You need a workable budget. Set up a cash flow chart so you can see where your money comes in and where it goes.

• DO YOU SAVE FOR A RAINY DAY? If yes, you are worried about some catastrophe that could wipe you out financially. You might be better off with hazard insurance. That is, sufficient protection against calamities affecting life, health, property and job. Insurance permits you to cope with emergencies without dipping into capital. Determine your insurance needs by computing how much loss you could absorb without denting your capital base.

• DO YOU CHARGE EVERYTHING? If so, maybe you are using credit to buy things that wear out even before they are paid for. Before using credit ask yourself why you want the item and how much you can afford to pay each month. If the price of a major item rises 10 percent in a year, it may be wise to use credit.

• DO YOU PUT ALL YOUR EGGS IN ONE BASKET? If so, you should diversify more. Don't put all your money in one stock, commodity or money market fund. If that investment fails, so will you.

• ARE YOU AN IMPULSE BUYER? If so, you probably haven't set goals and spending priorities. By setting goals and a budget, you are less inclined to spend money on impulse.

• DO YOU LIVE FOR TODAY? If so, it means you don't have a financial plan, which could lead to living only on social security benefits when you retire. Plan for the future now, because the longer you wait, the less you will be able to amass for future goals.

• DO YOU KEEP A NEST EGG IN A SAVINGS ACCOUNT? If you do, consider investing it in something with higher yields. Keep only enough in the bank to cover expenses for short periods.

• DO YOU BELIEVE ALL YOUR TAXES ARE INEVITABLE? They are not. You'd be surprised how many tax deductions people don't bother to claim.

Consider the tax aspect of everything you do with your money. Tax planning is a constant part of your financial decision-making.

• DO YOU OFTEN SAY, "I JUST DON'T KNOW WHERE THE MONEY

GOES?" If so, go through your checkbook and add up what you spend in quarterly periods. For the next two weeks, keep a notebook in your pocket and record expenses. This will help you find out where your cash goes.

Our Senior Citizens — They Deserve Better

IAN A. GRASSAM, D.C.

Who's the forgotten citizen in today's society?

Too often it's the senior citizen or other persons living on fixed incomes. In a world of double-digit inflation, shrinking services and soaring interest rates, our seniors and those on general assistance programs have been left unprotected in too many instances.

Sure, everybody complains about taxes and inflation, but how many of us have tried to cope living on a fixed income? For many of those 65 and over it's a time of retirement they've looked forward to and dreamed about for years.

Now that retirement is here, the financial security of life in 1981 has put a damper on those dreams. Runaway inflation has a way of dehumanizing those unable to keep pace. What a poor way to treat the very people we should be thanking for their lifetime of contributions towards our government, our schools and our churches.

The senior citizens I've come in contact with aren't looking for charity or some kind of handout. They just want a chance to live a life of dignity and I certainly think they've earned that sense of dignity.

For the month of October the Grassam Chiropractic Life Center will show its appreciation of today's senior citizens. We want those on Medicaid, Medicare and other general assistance programs to know that we understand the difficulty of their plight.

During October all Medicaid and Medicare expenses normally paid for by the patient receiving chiropractic care will be absorbed by the center. There will be no charges for any deductibles, including office call and annual deductibles, nor any charges for examination or required x-rays normally picked up by the patient.

In short, no out-of-pocket costs will be incurred by Medicaid or Medicare patients.

The thought of a senior citizen, or anyone for that matter, continuing to suffer from such ailments as back and leg pain, headaches, allergies, deafness, stiff neck and numerous other conditions simply because they are financially trapped is appalling. Chiropractic care is the way to a healthier life — and that's priceless.

During October our staff will show those on fixed incomes how chiropractic can change their lives. Medicare, Medicaid, A.D.C. and general assistance patients should simply call the center at 422-7800 for an appointment.

We don't consider this health care as charity. It's our way of helping those most affected by the economic realities of today.

It's also our way of saying "thank you" to those senior citizens who have given so much to improve our standard of living. Those of us at the Grassam Chiropractic Life Center have not forgotten about you, the senior citizen.

We look forward to seeing and treating you in October.

Glenn is one-away from grid crown

Westlanders have upset-minded GC East next

By ERIC GEARNS
ANP Special Writer

Only one title obstacle remains in the path of Coach Chuck Gordon and his amazing John Glenn Football team — the Garden City East Panthers.

The Rockets put themselves in position to win a share of the Northwest Suburban League Championship with a convincing 15-0 win over highly thought of Redford Union last week.

And while most observers feel that East will pose no threat to the Rockets, Gordon and his charges refuse to look past them.

"East beat a very good Franklin team last week and for us to take them lightly would be to waste the hard work we've done to get this far," Gordon stressed. In addition to grabbing a share the league crown (with either RU or North Farmington as co-champs), there still exists the outside possibility of Glenn qualifying for the state playoffs.

"We aren't even thinking about the state. We are going to go hard after our next three games and if the miracle happens we'll take it from there," Gordon explained.

The Rockets scored their second straight shutout over RU with a combination of outstanding offense and very solid defense.

Offensively, the Rockets bent a little, but refused to break, a trait which the team has shown all year under the leadership of defensive coaches Jeff Mate, Bob Eifiminger, and Todd DeLuca. It was the defense who scored the first TD as Amado Varona recovered a bad center snap on a punt in the end zone in the second quarter. Rocket quarterback Rick Wilson then hit split end Mike Dest with a pass for the two point conversion and Glenn had an 8-0 lead, and all the points it needed.

The offense got into the scoring in the fourth quarter when Don Forchione rammed 44 yards up the middle with five minutes remaining. Todd Jennings added the point after to give Glenn their final 15-0 advantage.

Forchione finished the game with 79 yards rushing, while Jennings accounted for 96 as the Rockets rolled up 280 yards on the ground.

Wilson added 50 more yards through the air, completing three of six attempts.

Gordon feels the offensive success of the team belongs to the assistants who handle the team — Al Dobrovolec the Offensive Line Coordinator, and DeLuca, who does double duty handling the receivers. Gordon himself handles the offensive backs.

"This team has been able to respond when they have had to, and that is why we are in the position we are now," said Gordon.

The team will travel to Garden City East for their 7:30 matchup against the Panthers on Friday night, before returning home for their final home game against Livonia Stevenson. They'll wrap up the campaign, traveling to Wayne Memorial for the final against their arch rival Zebras.

And then, perhaps, maybe a "miracle" playoff berth?

Wyandotte wrecks Wayne Homecoming

By ERIC GEARNS
(Special Writer)

Even the return of All-State running back Ricky Rogers to the Wayne sidelines couldn't motivate the Zebras enough to win, as they dropped their sixth straight contest to the Wyandotte Bruins 27-12 before an overflow homecoming crowd of 5800 fans.

While the enthusiastic Wayne crowd seemed to inspire the team early on, the bigger and stronger Bruins eventually wore down the valiant Zebras defense.

Wayne will not see things get any easier this week as they travel to state-ranked Dearborn Edsel Ford for a 3:30 Friday afternoon matchup against the highly favored T-Birds.

After spotting Wyandotte a 6-0 lead on a one-yard plunge by quarterback Jim Urbanik with a 9:53 remaining in the first half, the Zebras came right back. Senior Vince Patterson took the ensuing kickoff 39 yards to the Wayne 49 yard line. On the first play following the kick-off, junior tailback Shawn Boyer burst up the middle and outran the secondary for a 51 yard TD with 9:30 still remaining, to knot the score at 6-6.

Following the kickoff Wyandotte, fumbled the ball on its first play from scrimmage. Wayne defensive tackle Chris Whitworth alertly jumped on the pigskin to give the Zebras good field position on the Bruin 35 yard line.

Boyer then burst up the middle for 14 yards and on the next play with the entire Bruin defense keying on Boyer, quarterback Matt Korte kept the ball and skirted right end for 21 yards to put the Zebras ahead for the first time this year 12-6. There was 7:49 remaining in the half.

Wayne was then struck by the "gadget play" as Bruin halfback Tony Master-nik hit wide receiver Dino Pustalka with a 45 yard TD pass. The two point conversion gave Wyandotte a 14-12 lead with 3:02 remaining.

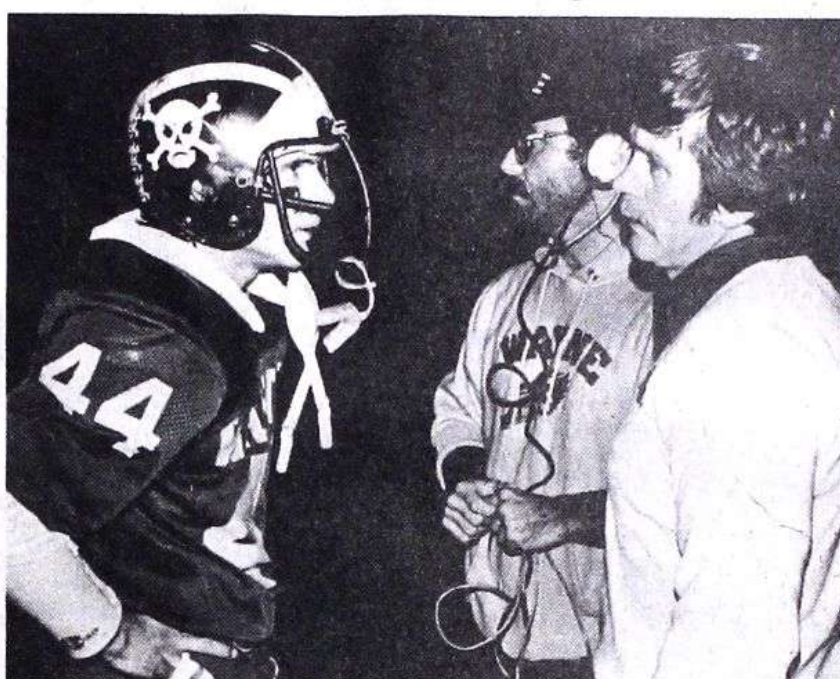

The play that proved to break the back of the Zebras was actually a poor Zebra punt which gave the Bruins excellent field position and saw Wyandotte drive 48 yards in five plays with Urbanik hitting George Martigan with a one-yard pass for the TD with only 36 seconds remaining.

The extra point gave Wyandotte what proved to be an insurmountable 21-12 halftime bulge.

The second half was a disaster for the Zebras. Not only did they hurt themselves with penalties and turnovers, but late in the third period they lost the services of Korte to a severe wrist injury.

Back-up signal-caller Jeff Blazer gave the crowd some thrills with pin-

Grid strategy

Head Coach Floyd Carter (above) discusses a grid problem with player, Kervin Rodriguez, during Friday night's confrontation with Wyandotte. The problems apparently weren't solved as the visiting Bruins spoiled Wayne's Homecoming festivities and extended the Zebras' losing streak to six games on the season. The streak is the longest in Carter's productive coaching career, and he has the dubious task of putting down an undefeated Edsel Ford contingent this Friday in Dearborn. Photos by Associated Newspapers' head photographer Lothar Konietzko.

Van Buren soccer club undefeated

"It's all in a name," an inspired person once remarked and Van Buren Township soccer fans are beginning to believe it.

The Van Buren Township Quality Business soccer team appears to be on their way to a second consecutive undefeated season as they stretched their victory string to four games.

Seven-year-old Michael Fujii credits the success to "a good team and a good coach." His dad, the Reverend Brian Fujii, is the team's head coach.

There aren't many who would argue with Michael's reasoning, of course; however, approximately half the players (5-7 year olds) are new to the team, and last spring Ed Dubin coached the undefeated players.

Fujii more specifically credits the victories to "super kids who put forth a full team effort into good ball handling and playing their position." And that leads to skilled ball playing—which, in soccer, is quality business.

Harriers are off to the regionals

With the dual meet season behind them and league titles to be decided this week, area high school harriers will also face the challenge of regional competition on Saturday.

Led by Wayne Memorial runners, which sports an unblemished 6-0 Great Lakes 8 Conference record and boasts invitational triumphs at Schoolcraft College and Southgate, most area teams will join the Zebras at Cass Benton Park for regional honors.

Edsel Ford, Bedford and Wayne will also be represented at the "A" regional, and the top three regional finishers plus the top 10 individual finishers, excluding the members from the top three teams, will qualify for the state finals scheduled for a week from Saturday.

In the meantime, Dearborn compiled 97 points to capture top honors at the 17-team Redford Union Invitational. Host, R.U. finished second followed by Northville (120), Livonia Churchill (129) and Westland John Glenn (144). Northville's Clark Couyoungjian toured the 3-mile course in 16:04 to win the gold medal. Glenn's Pete Stephens was the best of the Rockets as he was clocked in 16:39, while teammates Tom Gibson and Randy Frank contributed 11th and 20th places, respectively.

Redford Union established itself as the team to beat in the Northwest Suburban Conference as it handed Glenn its first loss on the conference trail, 23-26.

R.U.'s John Thrash turned in the best time, a 16:11, to set a course record, and he was trailed to the wire by Glenn's Stephens and Gibson who recorded times of 16:33 and 16:40, respectively. However, before the next Glenn runner turned up, four R.U. harriers had crossed the finish line.

Frank was eighth, while Ray Macica and Dan Roush were 11th and 12th respectively.

Edsel Ford showed why it is considered one of the finest teams in the state this year as the T-Birds raced past an always respected Belleville contingent 15-48 last week. Scoring for Belleville were John Fisher, sixth, Brad Tanner, ninth, Dave Ciaverello, 10th, Larry O'Sullivan, 11th, and John Conrad, 12th.

Wayne came one victory closer to the Great Lakes 8 Conference title as the Zebras turned back Taylor Center 25-35 to stretch their league winning streak to six meets.

Wayne Memorial also finished third at the University of Michigan's prestigious invitational. The Zebras received a fifth place performance from Chris Strome (16:42), seventh from Keith Kiesnowski and ninth from Kevin Allen.

Edsel's runners came away with the first place trophy while Bedford was runner-up.

Belleville in 'must' with Salem

Edsel hands Tigers their first league loss, 28-21

If Belleville is ever to beat Plymouth Salem in the Suburban 8 Football Conference, Friday night will be the Tigers' last chance.

Coach Michael Colletta's gridders must do it now, or they will never get another opportunity. Salem is scheduled to depart from the league next year and establish residency in the newly proposed 10-team Inter-Lakes Conference.

"Salem has always been tough," Colletta said, "and I personally haven't beaten them, although someone around here said that Belleville did record one victory against Tom Moshimer (Salem's coach).

"The thing I remember is the year they beat Belleville 64-0 and, believe me, we know how tough Salem can be, especially with their wishbone offense. With that kind of offense it gets better each week."

Belleville will entertain the Rocks from Plymouth Friday night with kickoff slated for 7:30 p.m. The Tigers need the win if they hope to keep their conference title dreams alive.

Edsel, which held off the rallying Tigers a week ago and posted a narrow 28-21 victory over Colletta's gridders, took command of the tie race. The T-Birds have a 5-0 record, but they also must get past a highly respected Trenton. If Trenton should knock off the high-flying T-Birds, and Belleville beats Salem, there is a possibility of a three-way tie for the championship.

Belleville wasted running back Keith Gates' superb performance against the Dearbornites who scored twice in the first period and picked up single tallies in each of the second and third quarters to hand the Tigers their first defeat in the league.

Gates scored all three Belleville TDs on runs of four, one and six yards and finished the afternoon with 144 yards on 22 attempts. He has now amassed 933 yards and 10 TDs on the season.

Sam Villa hit on all three conversion attempts for Belleville.

Villa had no problems running or throwing against the hosts who are ranked among the top teams in the state this year. The senior Tiger QB engineered an opening kickoff drive that ended with an interception at the Edsel 4-yard line.

However, Edsel turned right around with its all-state candidate, Rick Wyka, and marched 96 yards and scored on a 4-yard run by Wyka. Mike Bridges kicked the extra point to give the hosts a 7-0 lead.

Belleville didn't waste any time. On the ensuing kickoff Villa again put on a sparkling display as he guided the Tigers 61-yards with Gates polishing off the final four for the TD. The Tiger quarterback then booted his first of three conversions to tie the score.

Wayne revs up for Edsel's T-Birds

point passes, but his receivers dropped some of his tosses to hurt drives.
Wyandotte put the frosting on the cake with a fourth quarter TD by Eric Eberjessy on a four-yard run to give the Bruins their final 27-12 margin.
Coach Floyd Carter was understandably upset with his teams performance.
"We made some of the same mistakes that we've been making all year. And it is some of the veteran ballplayers who are making them. We played well for just quarters again, but to win we have to put together a whole game," said Carter.

The Zebras will need a superlative effort if they are to even stay close to the No. 7 ranked T-Birds.

"They are strong everywhere. They have an excellent passer in Rick Wyka and he can run as well. He accounted for 378 yards in offense against Belleville, so he is the key," said Carter.

Wayne fans are reminded that the game is at 3:30 at Edsel Ford, some schedules have the starting listed at 7:30. That is incorrect.

Wayne Athletic Director Bill Hawley was extremely pleased with the large turnout for Homecoming.

"The team has been having a rough time, and I think it is a tribute to the people of Wayne who continue to come out and support us," he said.

The Zebra jayvees under coach Kevin Wilson continued their winning ways as they came from behind to defeat the junior varsity Bruins 20-14, to bring their record to 4-2 for the season. The jayvees will entertain Edsel Ford at home at 4:00 p.m. Thursday.

Rock formation

Plymouth Salem head football coach Tom Moshimer paces before his Salem Rock formation which will be in Belleville Friday night to take on a title-hopeful Tiger football team. Moshimer has never lost to Belleville and Friday will be the last time that the Belleville gridders can get even for their many years of frustrations. Salem is scheduled to depart from the league next year and the Rocks will help form a new 10-team conference which will include their arch-rivals, Canton.

Wayne faces swim title obstacle

Wayne Memorial, the undefeated and defending Great Lakes 8 Conference girls' swimming champ, will face a major title obstacle on Thursday when Coach Jim McPartlin's tankers clash with Monroe at 7 p.m.

"Monroe is a solid swimming team," McPartlin stressed after his girls chalked up their second straight conference win at the expense of Lincoln Park, 112-57. "The winner of Thursday's meet will definitely be in the league driver's seat."

Wayne will take an over-all 5-1 record into the Trojan match-up, the Zebras coasting past Fordson, Westland John Glenn and Cherry Hill. Their lone loss was to Ypsilanti.

With Mary Batterson picking up a pair of wins, Wayne had little problems with the Parkers. They took 8-of-11 first places. Miss Batterson turned in a 2:09.1 in winning the 200-yard freestyle, then came back with an excellent 5:46.5 to claim a first in the 500-yard freestyle.

After 6th straight loss

Cherry Hill coach looking to future

If there is any bright spot in Cherry Hill's dismal 0-6 football record, it's the way the underclassmen have been performing.

"We used at least six sophomores last week and they looked good," noted Cherry Hill Coach Jerry Pawloski after a 34-14 loss to out-of-conference rival, Blissfield. "It's always a good indication when you have players who can come up from the ranks and take command."

Cherry Hill runs up against a twice-defeated Melvindale club Friday night before returning home next Saturday to host an also-looking-for-first-victory Dearborn Heights Riverside for Homecoming.

Pawloski moved sophomore Karl Lucas at the quarterback and five other sophs to fill the void created by injuries to seniors. QB Sam Taylor and Tom Michno have been on the injury list and Taylor is probably out for the season with a shoulder hurt, while Michno could be in the line-up Friday night at Melvindale.

However, Lucas kept the Spartans in the game against Blissfield, which needed a pair of touchdowns in the last quarter to break away from the stubborn Spartans.

Scoreless the first quarter, Cherry Hill spotted Blissfield two second period touchdowns before it fought back with an 8-play, 64-yard drive that Lucas capped on a QB sneak. Guy Krikorian converted to narrow the gap to 12-7. In that initial Spartan TD series, Lucas connected on three key passes to tailback John Green for 18, 5, and 40 yards.

Blissfield countered early in the third quarter with its third score, making it 20-7. After the ensuing kickoff, Lucas put together a drive that culminated with a 40-yard touchdown strike to Green, bringing the Spartans back in the game at 20-14.

But Blissfield erupted for two final quarter touchdowns to seal the victory.

Lucas, who connected on 8-of-18 tosses for 122 yards, and Mike Merriman, also moved to the starting fullback slot, also contributed a large chunk of Spartan yardage. A 5-11, 165-pound sophomore, Merriman picked up 51 yards on the ground, also had a 40-yard kickoff return and was credited with seven solo tackles from his linebacker's berth.

Pawloski also started Todd Cabanaw, a soph guard-tackle who checks in at 5-11, 198; Rick LaChance, a 5-11, 175-pound tackle, while David Kavnich and Paul Lee alternated at tight end.

Green finished the game with 5 receptions and 125 yards for his ballcarrying.

"Melvindale was picked to win it this year," Pawloski pointed out, "but they've lost two in a row now. Apparently something has gone wrong over there, and we're hoping they don't correct it at our expense."

Former All-Area gridders see plenty of college action

Most area sports observers don't get a chance to follow the local grid athletes past their high school days.

Actually very few high school athletes ever get a chance to play college ball.

However, the ANP sports area fans can be satisfied with the fact its gridders are getting a chance to play and doing very well.

All-Area running back and All State choice from Wayne last year Rick Rogers was home for this year's Homecoming contest. Rogers is a backup tailback for Bo Schembechler's Wolverines this season and has amassed 42 yards in just seven carries for a 6-yard per carry average.

While Rogers is a backup this year, he has every intention of being number one next season, following the graduation of All-American candidate Butch Woolfolk.

Last week's GLIAC game between Grand Valley State and Saginaw Valley State looked like a roster of past All-Area gridders.

Saginaw Valley is led by Rusty Mandle from Canton and also seeing action this year for the Cardinals are last year's All-Area members Joe Rice of New Boston Huron and Craig Gears of Canton.

The Grand Valley contingent is led by former All-Area quarterback Randy Pichan, now leading the team in tackles as a defensive end.

Also starting for the Lakers are former All-Area selections Stan Snider of Plymouth Salem and Paul Svabik of John Glenn.

Grid Gypsy picks Wayne Memorial to upset Edsel Ford

The gypsy had only a fair week as he correctly predicted eight while missing on three.

The record could have been much better except for an upset by Garden City East over Livonia Franklin and a rally by Plymouth Canton that fell a little short in the last quarter.

As most of the league seasons were up this week, the games become very crucial in deciding final league standings.

INKSTER AT ROBICHAUD: This is the big rivalry for these two squads and is always a closely fought battle. Pick - Robichaud by 7.

PLYMOUTH SALEM AT BELLEVILLE: It has been a long time since the Tigers have beaten the Rocks. In fact,

Graziano posts shutout

4 hockey clubs remain unbeaten

While Tastee Freeze has emerged as the "team to beat" in the Berrington Division, three teams in the Bonkowski Division continue to display perfect records in the Over 30 Wayne-Westland Hockey League after two weeks of skating.

In the second week of the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey League, Rick Graziano carded the first shutout of the young campaign as Futurama jolted Johnson's Carbonic 2-0.

Dave Roberts rattled the net for Futurama's first goal with just 25 seconds off the clock. Marv Borycki accounted for the second goal midway in the third period with Dave Miliam and Tom Mryans assisting. The victory is Futurama's second in as many outings.

Al Farina led Jake's Lounge to its second win of the season by scoring three goals and assisting another as Jake's skated past All-Sorts Sports 6-2. Jake's scored all six of their goals before A-Sorts Sports got on the scoreboard in the third period.

Jim O'Gozaly, Jim Lear and Keith Middaugh had single tallies for the winners with Lear also picking up two assists. Gene Hudson, Rick Mullen and Dave Beebe had one assist each.

Midway in the third period All-Sorts Sports succeeded in getting the puck past Jake's netminder John Ruggiero as Paul Cramer found the crease. John Castellanos and Ron Wojewski collected the assists. With 45 seconds remaining in the contest, Mark LaFond tallied for All-Sorts Sports with Craig Averill and Ralph Tack picking up the assists.

Dave Frankling was top point getter for Tastee Freeze as he netted the puck twice and picked up two assists in a 6-1 decision over Brock Builders.

Bob Eggers tallied twice while Paul Mayworm tallied for one goal and one assist. John Kunz also found the net for one goal. Bob Wood picked up two assists and Dennis Broge, Ed Spontack, Ken Beal, Bill Balow and Guy Moise finished with one assist.

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN AT GARDEN CITY EAST: East's big upset win over Franklin last week has put Coach Chuck Gordon and the Rockets on the alert. A Glenn victory will give them a share of the crown. Pick - The "Coronation" takes place—Glenn by 14.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN AT REDFORD THURSTON: Franklin will be smarting after their loss and Thurston is no match. We see a big day for Rich Popp and the Patriots. Pick - Franklin by 21.

PLYMOUTH CANTON AT LIVONIA CHURCHILL: Look out Chargers Canton is no pushover this year. Pick - Churchill by 1.

CHERRY HILL AT MELVINDALE: Melvindale was knocked from the ranks of the unbeaten by an upstart Garden City West last week. The Cardinals will be out for revenge and Cherry Hill will be the target of their frustration. Pick - Melvindale by 14.

CLASSIFIED ADS - We've come a long way

Classified Ads as we know them today have evolved through a maze of time, ever searching for new routes by which people can communicate their wants to other people.

Thus the journey had its beginning in the days of the Egyptian Pharaohs. Papyri have been found on which were inscribed a form of Classified—mostly advertising for the return of runaway slaves.

Naturally, the first full-fledged Classified ad, as it applies to newspapers, had to await the invention of the press by Johann Gutenberg in the mid-1400s. On June 28, 1660, King Charles II of England advertised in the Mercurious Politicus for the return of his dog. The ad read:

LOST — A smooth black dog, less than a greyhound, belonging to the King's Majesty. If anyone can give notice to His Majesty's servants, or to His Majesty's back stairs, he shall be well-rewarded.

The first Classified ad to appear in the American press was in April of 1704. It was printed by John Campbell in his Boston Newsletter, and it invited readers to place small notices in the weekly newspaper.

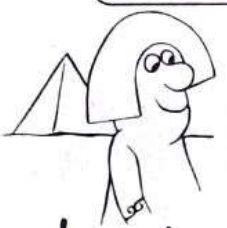

The New York Sun became the first newspaper to group the little ads together. This occurred about 1830.

Classified Ads as we still know them have been found in the papyri of ancient Egypt, mostly advertising for the return of runaway slaves.

Can you get me from Ancient Egypt to today's Classified section?

John Campbell published the first American Classified ad in the first edition of his Boston Newsletter in 1704.

In 1660, King Charles II advertised in the Mercurious Politicus for the return of his lost greyhound.

The first newspaper to group all the little ads together in one section was the New York Sun way back in 1830. By the turn of the century the volume of ads had grown so much that it became necessary to group them under classification headings.

From a piece of parchment to page after page of avidly read messages, Classified ads have indeed come a long way. Today, they are the lowest-cost method of communicating between buyer and seller, renter and landlord, drivers and automobile dealers, repair experts and fix-up projects, and between employer and employee. And the overriding theme that runs through the maze is capsulated in one word—RESULTS.

Burt Reynolds and Beverly D'Angelo lack the material needed to create enough funny moments to save 'Paternity.' The opening scenes are clever and funny but what follows leaves much to be desired. The talents of Director David Steinberg and Reynolds seem wasted.

'Wait Until Dark' opens in Plymouth

Alone in the dark world of the blind, a young woman is pitted against an unseen killer with raw courage as her only weapon.

Such is the electrifying setting for Frederick Knott's "Wait Until Dark," the opening production of the Plymouth Theatre Guild. Performances are scheduled Oct. 30 and 31, Nov. 6 and 7 and Nov. 13 and 14 at the Central Middle School, located at Church and Main Streets in downtown Plymouth. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

Janen Booth of Canton will direct a cast that features a number of local performers including Tobin Hissong, Jerry Billingsley, Vestus Spindler III, Lisa Andres, David Ide and Tani Secunda. Pat Troth will serve as assistant director and stage manager while Clemie Cyburt handles production coordination.

Tickets, priced at $4 for adults and $3.50 for students and senior citizens, are available by contacting Karen Groves at 420-2161 or Irene Troth at 455-4755. Group sales are available at reduced rates.

Having Burt's baby is not entertaining

"Paternity" from Paramount Pictures. Directed by David Steinberg. Written by Charlie Peters. Starring Beverly D'Angelo, Burt Reynolds, Normal Fell. Rated "PG."

By J. T. YURKO
Special to Playtime

There's Burt Reynolds staring down the ad for the movie with the provocative request, "I want you to have my baby."

Judging from Burt Reynolds' popularity, there are probably few women who would deny even so demanding a request. Things are not quite so easy for him in the film, however, and his search for the "right woman" leads to a few (not many) comedic moments and finally, to true love.

They might even live happily ever after. How can you argue with a happy ending?

With the ending I have no arguments. And the opening moments of the film are very clever and funny. It's what comes between that may cause the viewer to have a few derogatory comments.

Burt Reynolds seems to have two personalities. One is the pedal-to-the-metal car-crashing rowdy such as in "Smokey and the Bandit" and "Hooper." The other is a quiet, shy, sensitive kind of guy, a touch introspective, a bit humble. This is the Burt Reynolds of "The End" and "Starting Over," and of his new film "Paternity."

Here Reynolds plays a highly successful New York executive. He's successful in business as he's head of Madison Square Garden with a deluxe office overlooking the arena, and he's successful in love as he uses that plush office for... shall we say "man's favorite sport?" Yet, something is missing. He's getting a little old, 44, not bad, but as he looks back at his life he sees something's missing. He wants a son, an heir.

Enter Beverly D'Angelo as a waitress/musician who would like to study in Paris but can't afford it. Thus we have a peculiar form of 1980s kismet, she's a woman who needs money, while Reynolds has money and needs a child.

Comedian David Steinberg does a fine job directing, and Reynolds is as engaging as ever, but the script allows for too few laughs and too much predictability. As the woman Reynolds selects, D'Angelo is a marvelous actress and the best thing about the recent misguided "Honky Tonk Freeway," but here she is spiritless and lackluster.

Travel-adventure film series set in Westland

The Wayne/Westland Art Association, in cooperation with The Detroit Institute of Arts World Adventure Series, will initiate a travel adventure film-lecture series similar to the renowned George Pierrot World Adventure Series, beginning October 28.

Famed as an excellent way to learn about the peoples and places of the world, while having an enjoyable evening, the Series has been in operation 49 years, and now extends to Westland. The first program is titled "Finland-Lapland," and will be narrated live from the stage by Harry Reed, long-time adventure film maker and lecturer. It will be presented at the Baily Recreation Center, 36651 Ford Road, as well each of the monthly programs.

The balance of the Wayne/Westland Series schedule is "Germany Wunderbar!" on November 19; "Hawaii—An Insider's View" on December 10; "Spanish Main Adventure" on January 21; "Everyone! Let's Tour Britain" on February 18; and "Alaska by Land and by Sea" on March 24.

Tickets are $3 or $15 for the season pass of six shows. Further information can be obtained by calling 832-2730.

Fall dinner theatre performances slated

The Schoolcraft College Players will perform Jack Sharkey's farce-comedy "Meanwhile, Back on the Couch..." for their fall dinner theater production on November 13-14 and 20-21.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. and curtain time is at 8 in the Waterman Campus Center. Tickets are $11 and must be purchased in advance at the College bookstore.

"Meanwhile, Back on the Couch..." involves a psychiatrist and would be writer Victor Karlen and his fiancée Gabrielle Wingate, an interior designer accustomed to the finer things in life. Gabrielle's expensive tastes have led Victor, in an effort to increase his income, to write a book based on his psychiatric case histories.

How Victor saves his marriage-to-be, completes the book and stays out of the unemployment line makes up the plot of this fast-paced comedy.

Further information may be obtained by calling the College Bookstore at 591-6400, extension 265. Schoolcraft College is located at 18600 Haggerty Road in Livonia.

Fishing Lines

By BOB SAWITSKI

Winterize that outboard motor

Although you may be in the process of winterizing your outboard motor, that doesn't mean the fishing season is over. Far from it! Fishing in the fall can produce some big catches. For more information on the best bets for fall fishing, write the Michigan Travel Bureau, P.O. Box 30226, Lansing, Michigan, 48909.

One spring when a fishing buddy was preparing his boat for the fishing season, the first thing on his list was to take the outboard motor in for a tuneup.

But when the mechanic checked it over, he gave my buddy some bad news. He found that the whole lower unit had to be replaced, the valves needed to be re-ground, and a new carburetor was required, in addition to the tuneup. He ended up paying ten times more than he expected to pay.

Why was all this necessary? The mechanic's answer was that my hapless buddy did not winterize his outboard motor.

You can bet he'll do it this year. And if your outboard motor is too big and heavy to remove from your boat and stash in your basement, you, too, better follow these steps:

First, submerge the prop in water (the experts use a flush plate, but an oil drum or a trash can will work). Start the motor and spray rust preventing oil directly into the carburetor until it stalls. This will lubricate and protect all internal working parts.

Also, remove the spark plugs and spray the oil into the openings, then replace the plugs. This will coat the cylinder walls and keep them from rusting or becoming ruined from freezing.

Restart the motor and run it for a few minutes to circulate the oil. Then disconnect the fuel line from the motor and let it run out of gas. Empty the fuel tank.

Then drain the lower unit. This is the part of the motor that hangs down the back of your boat and has a propeller on the bottom. The lower unit is full of grease, but it's possible that water has seeped in and will freeze and cause problems if it is allowed to remain over the winter months. When you're sure all the water and old grease is out, refill it with fresh grease.

This entire process can be completed in an hour or so, and you can rest assured your motor will be in top shape when you get it ready next spring.

The boat trailer should also be prepared for the long winter. Inspect your trailer thoroughly. Test each nut and bolt with a wrench to see if it has loosened. Sometimes bolts elongate their holes and such a test will detect this problem. If you discover this has happened, a visit to a welding shop may be in order.

Check the rubber rollers for smooth rotation. If they are hard to turn or are stuck, free them up now so they don't get worse during the storage period. Use rubber lubricant available at all auto supply stores.

Some boat owners like to raise the keel of their boats off the keel rollers with blocks of wood. This prevents the weight of the boat from flattening the rollers while it's in storage.

Inspect the wheel bearings for adequate lubrication and signs of water. If you find any trace of water, clean the bearings and check any bright surfaces for signs of rust pitting. If all is well, regrease and put it back together.

It may also be a good idea to block up the trailer axle to relieve the tires of the weight of the trailer and boat. Some fishermen remove the wheels and store them in a cool, dark place to prolong tire life.

See if there's any water inside the tail lights. If there is, get it out now. The lamp sockets will corrode if the water is left over the winter.

If you take your boat and trailer out of the garage during the winter (maybe to go on a fishing trip down South), apply sealing compound where the wires enter the trailer lights to keep winter road salt from getting in and corroding the wire connections.

Of course, the entire winterizing process should be repeated before returning home.

Don't forget the boat itself. If it has a flat floor, take pains to sponge out any and all water under the floor. This is especially important if your boat is made of aluminum. Water freezing in the hull can easily pop rivets and cause leaks.

Remember, the fishermen who get out on the water earliest each spring are usually the ones who did the best job of preparing their rigs for winter storage. And you may save a lot of money, too.

My buddy found this out the hard way.

Detroit Youtheatre entertains specific groups each week

Detroit Youtheatre's 34-week "Something Every Saturday" season has opened in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium/theatre.

Each Saturday through the season, a different, live professional Broadway-flavor musical, play, special, puppet show or film will be presented. Geared for specific age levels, the presentations have been selected to represent performing arts from all over the world.

Each year, Detroit Youtheatre audiences total nearly 250,000, both in the museum auditorium and in communities across the state. The museum based program is nationally recognized as the largest center for professional performing arts for young people in the country.

Highlighting the new series will be "Casper & Jasper" (Oct. 31) which features juggling, magic, mime, music and unicycling in a Halloween special; "Best Foot Forward" (Nov. 28) with Wayne State University's Movin' Theatre in a highstepping revue of dance crazes from the Minuet to disco; "Feliz Navidad" (Dec. 5) a concert-study of winter holidays in Spain performed by two of that country's foremost dancers; New York's famous Paper Bag Players in "Christmas All Over The Place" (Dec. 12); Canada's Arete Mime Troupe in "A Twist of Lemon" (Mar. 6); "The World of Arabic Music" (Apr. 3); the story of "The Great Houdini" (Apr. 24); and "The Wizard of Oz" (May 15 & 22) performed by New York's Prince Street Players.

One Saturday each month will be devoted to film travels — "Small, Small World Adventure" — with visits to Florida & Disney World (Jan. 21); South and East Africa (Feb. 27); Hawaii (Mar. 20); Alaska (Apr. 17) and many other exotic places.

Youtheatre also offers "Wiggle Club" shows for families with young people three to eight years of age, birthday party packages, free, guided "Back Stage Tours," youth group salute days, special season discounts and group rates.

Performances are at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium. General admission tickets are $2.50 for children and adults — $1.75 each in groups of 10 or more. Wiggle Club memberships are $10 each for young people, and adult tickets may be purchased at $10 for all five shows.

Youtheatre's Season Discount Pass — good for ten admissions for either adults or children — are available at $17.50.

Serving the student community, Detroit Youtheatre provides "Field Trip To Broadway," a series of full-stage presentations in the museum auditorium during school time, as well as a broad spectrum of curriculum related shows in locations throughout the state as part of the Art Institute's "Show on The Road" touring program.

A detailed brochure of the complete Detroit Youtheatre season and ticket information is available by calling the Art Institute ticket office — 832-2730.

Looking over some of the equipment that will be used in the forthcoming Super Sewer project that is expected to begin next spring in Western and Downriver communities are (L-R) Duane Egeland, Director of Engineering for the Wayne County Dept. of Public Works; County Commissioner William Sullivan of Wyandotte and Chester Wozniak, Asst. Managing Director. The occasion was the October 6th International Convention of the Water Pollution Control Federation with representatives from as far away as Paris, France.

The 7-day conference at Cobo Hall yielded a wide display of hardware being used to combat water pollution. Wayne County's 30-mile sewer project will have the participation of 16 cities and townships, including Huron, Van Buren and Sumpter, the state and federal governments. Phase I and II of the system, with construction to begin next spring, will run from Joy Road in Canton Township south and eastward through Flat Rock and will eliminate the Rockwood, Flat Rock and Trenton sewage plants and Brownstown lagoons.

County, AFSME reach agreement

An agreement between Michigan AFSME Council 25, its affiliated locals, and the Wayne County Board of Commissioners halting the layoff of nearly 700 county employees and deferring some $4.5 million in November COLA payments was approved by the General Government Committee and sent on to the Ways and Means Committee budget session for further action.

The agreement also calls for the roll-in of 50 cents per hour of COLA into the employee's base salaries.

Commissioner Paul G. Citkowski, Chairman of the General Government Committee and a member of the County's Labor Relations Board, said the union was given the option of either having 700 of its members dismissed or deferring the November cost of living payment.

Council 25 obtained a temporary restraining order July 26th from Circuit Court Judge Thomas Roumell postponing the layoffs until union bargaining units and the county could reach an agreement.

Initially the unions insisted upon a $1.50 roll-in as a trade-off on the auditor's plan to lay off, but a tentative agreement reached between the two sides on COLA deferment and a 50 cent roll-in was ratified by the union rank and file September 9th. Judge Roumell, in the meantime, dismissed the union suit.

County employees will receive the November COLA payment no later than February 5, 1982, their 50 cent roll-in (retroactive back to August, 1981) will be due on the first payday following February 1, 1982.

Employees of the Circuit, Recorder's and Common Pleas Courts transferring to the State Judicial system had $1.57 rolled into their base salaries August 31.

The economic costs of these provisions next year, excluding grant and self-funded employees, is estimated at $793,600.

Bazaar benefits Hospice

The St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Medical Auxiliary will present its Seventh Annual Holiday Bazaar Tuesday, Nov. 3 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Chapel Hill Club House, 3350 Green Rd., Ann Arbor. Proceeds from the event will be donated to Hospice of Washtenaw.

Some 17 local artisans will also present their wares and will donate part of their proceeds to Hospice.

Items to be sold include a quilt; hand-sewn children's bibs; casserole carriers; "Go Blue" Towels; decorated table-top Christmas trees; wreaths; hand painted baskets and Christmas tree ornaments.

Free refreshments will be provided. Further information may be obtained by calling Ruth Saunders, Bazaar Chairman, (313) 662-1669.

University reps to pay Huron students a visit

Representatives from many of the colleges and universities in the State of Michigan will be visiting New Boston Huron during the next four weeks to discuss college life and education with students.

"The purpose for their annual trek is to acquaint interested students with facts about their respective educational programs and campus life," a spokesman from the school said.

Students may look forward to meeting representatives from Sienna Heights College at 9 a.m., Oct. 19; Adrian College, 11 a.m., Oct. 22; Wayne County Community College, 11 a.m., Oct. 23; Grand Valley College, 11 a.m., Oct. 26; and Eastern Michigan University at 11 a.m., Oct. 30.

Representatives from the University of Michigan will pay Huron a visit at 11 a.m., Nov. 5, while the Detroit Business Institute will be in New Boston at 11 a.m., Nov. 12.

Michigan State University representatives met with students last Thursday.

Senior students who are interested in any of the above mentioned colleges should sign up in the school office prior to the visits.

New Boston Huron students should also take note that All-State Photo Company rep. Tom Cotter, announced this week that the make-up date for those students who were absent or missed getting their pictures taken last month may do so at 8:30 p.m., Thurs., Oct. 22.

The Landscaping Class, under the guidance of Charles Williams, planted a Silver Maple tree on the western edge of the school lawn.

The Silver maple was emplaced on October 13th, and it was a gracious gift of the Garden Club. The hardwood tree was planted in fall because it has a better chance to survive the winter due to the higher water table.

Mrs. Louise Otter of 25330 Otter Road was instrumental in securing this gift for Huron High. She is the Conservation Chairperson of the Flat Rock Garden Club.

Belleville seeks Christmas parade units, food baskets

If you or your group want to take part in a Christmas Parade, Belleville's the place to be next month.

The Belleville-Van Buren Chamber of Commerce is seeking units to participate in its annual Christmas Parade which will be staged beginning at 11 a.m., Sat., Dec. 5 from the Belleville High School parking lot.

"We're looking for marching bands, unique displays or floats, groups or individuals who wish to participate in this holiday event," said Valerie Higgins, parade chairperson. "It's a very special time of the year, and we would like everyone to take part in one way or other."

In conjunction with the holiday season, the Belleville-Van Buren Chamber of Commerce is also launching a community-wide food basket drive. The baskets will be presented to the families of the needy in the area to help lighten the load.

"This year we have adopted the theme 'The Gift of Giving' as the theme for the parade," Mrs. Higgins added, "and it is so appropriate for this time of the year."

If you wish to participate in the parade or would like to donate food, please contact Mrs. Higgins at 699-2714 or the chamber of commerce at 697-7151.

Those wishing to enter the annual Christmas Parade should fill out the entry blank accompanying the story.

Romulus historians discuss Civil War

"Romulus and the Civil War" will be the theme of a meeting this week sponsored by the Romulus Historical Society.

"We are asking all those who have relics or articles from the Civil War or are Civil War buffs to join us in this very interesting meeting," urged Pearl Varner, Romulus historian. "This area has much to offer in the way of history and many of our citizens have ancestors who either have left letters or papers about the war."

If you do have any articles or letters concerning the Civil War, the Romulus Historical Society would like you to contact them. You can leave your name and telephone at the Romulus Library. That telephone is 941-0775.

The Romulus Historical Society cordially invites residents to attend its monthly meeting which will be held this week Wed., Oct. 21 beginning at 7 p.m. at the Romulus Library. The discussion will concern the Civil War which occurred 1861-1865 between the North and South, where oft times brother fought against brother.

The meeting promises to be especially interesting because several Romulus citizens have been invited to participate and tell about their own special interest and/or bring items pertaining to this conflict in which some 90,000 Michigan men answered the call to arms.

A special Civil War display will be on exhibit at the Romulus Library, 11121 South Wayne Road, in the near future. "We hope you will plan to drop in and see it. If you have any articles or letters to give to the Romulus Historical Society, they will be very much appreciated," Mrs. Varner said.

If you have any questions, contact Mrs. Varner at 697-9628 after 3 p.m. or evenings.

County says it won't have to borrow money this year

Taxes will be reduced by half-mill

Despite an unexpected $3.3 million of unauthorized expenditures in the Sheriff's Department, Wayne County will not need to borrow this year to meet obligations through the end of the current fiscal year on Nov. 30.

The announcement from the County Board of Auditors last week was also the time when the Auditors presented a new budget recommendation to the Board of Commissioners for the coming 1981-82 fiscal year.

Other good news for 1982 includes a reduced levy for taxpayers — the expiring half mill that voters agreed to in 1976 for a five-year duration for operation and construction of a new jail now being built in downtown Detroit.

It was the first time since 1979 that the county, be reasons that some claim mismanagement and others attribute to political pressure, was forced to borrow on anticipated tax revenue to cover expenses in the late, critical stages of the fiscal year.

The County also borrowed again 1980, and in both years some employee payrolls were delayed, although no more than 10 days, and some payments to vendors were temporarily postponed.

None of that will occur this year, according to Board Chairman Samuel A. Turner, Auditor Ted Mrozowski and Budget Director Constantine Stathos. "Although we are not rich by any means, our cash flow position is substantially improved this year, that we expect no need to borrow," Turner emphasized.

"We are completely up-to-date on vendor payments and see no problems with employee payrolls," said Stathos. He added: "And we expect this good position to continue next year and in ensuing years."

Mrozowski and Stathos said the stronger cash flow position is due mainly to deferment of cost-of-living allowances negotiated with Council 25 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees — an agreement likely to be demanded from all County workers, including the Commissioners themselves — and increased use of beds and collections at the County General Hospital.

The deferred COLA payments, in effect a postponement until February amounts to about $5.2 million put aside this fiscal year. It will amount to more when and if the deferment is applied to other workers, both union represented and non-represented, and elected officials.

At the hospital, since 60 physicians there with County approval organized into a private firm contracting medical services, revenues are up more than $4.5 million and rising. Patient bed-days are more than 1000 monthly than in 1980. The plan has been operational only since July.

The proposed new budget totals $285.9 million, which is $15.4 million less than the current year appropriation of $301.2 million, and will be funded by an estimated $157.7 million in non-tax revenues and $128.2 million in general property taxes.

Mrozowski said the latter amount will require a levy of the maximum 7.07 mills allowed the County outside special assessments such as the jail millage. The County expects an additional $10.7 million operating revenue due to increased state equalization valuation of property.

Among county officials, the new budget is regarded as a "continuation budget," providing essentially the same services now in effect while shifting certain major funding and staffing to other jurisdictions. For example:

- A gain of $4.2 million derived from court reorganization resulting in the new 36th District Court and the transfer of 495 jobs from the County to the State.
- $2 million from full state funding of adult probation services and the transfer of 121 positions.
- The combination of these and other changes reducing the county work force by 963 positions, down to 3,903 from 4,500 just since June. Specifically, the reduction comes from 495 court changes, 121 from probation shifts, and 241 funded on an interim basis.

In the proposed new budget, the Auditors emphasize, there is complete funding for the approximate $20 million budget projected for 1980-81 that is carried over.

The elimination of the Sheriff's Patrol and Investigation Unit also contributes substantially to funding available for the new budget. Although contested in court for a year now, the division was officially stricken from the budget during fiscal deliberations of the Board of Commissioners in 1980, hoping to save some $5.2 million.

Sheriff William Lucas has since successfully resisted that order, but a recent Circuit Court decision upheld the Commissioners' right to exercise their management prerogative. The matter is in appeal before the State Supreme Court.

Budget deliberations will continue throughout October, with a public hearing tentatively scheduled for Oct. 19 and final adoption Oct. 29.

Churches come to the aid of UNICEF

Belleville youth groups plan fund drive

Several local and area churches will combine their efforts to help raise funds for UNICEF, United Nation's Children's Fund.

On Sunday, Oct. 25 from 5 to 6:30 p.m., the youth of the churches will be soliciting funds for the organization.

UNICEF is helping to improve the lives of children in 113 developing countries. Every year, Americans of all ages support this life-giving effort and more than $60 million has been raised.

Thanks to this nationwide humanitarian effort, Halloween has come to mean nutritious food, medicines and vaccines, basic education and safe water and sanitation for the world's neediest children.

UNICEF is determined to provide a future for every child. The task is enormous but not insurmountable, and even the smallest effort can make a big difference in the life of a needy child.

These individual efforts help UNICEF offer millions of impoverished children the rights and opportunities all children deserve.

Belleville youngsters will be knocking on your door on Oct. 25. Won't you please help them help others.

New pastor named at Zion Missionary

There's a new pastor in town.

He's the Rev. Arnold Schmidt who will serve as pastor of the Zion Missionary Church on South Edgemont in Belleville. For the past eight years, Rev. Schmidt has been the pastor of the First Missionary Church in Pontiac.

Rev. Schmidt attended Bethel College, Newton, Kansas for several years and graduated from Ft. Wayne Bible College, Ft. Wayne, Indiana with a degree in theology.

Later, he attended Greenville College, Greenville, Illinois, graduating with a degree in philosophy-religion.

Mrs. Kay Schmidt, the pastor's wife, is a native of Detroit. She is teaching 5th grade in Livonia, and has taught there for 14 years.

The Schmidts have three children. Their son is a staff ecologist for the Michigan United Conservation Clubs of Michigan. One daughter teaches junior high in Lakeville Schools near Otisville, Michigan, and the other daughter works as head of a jewelry department store in Taylor.

Pastor Schmidt has served churches in California, Ohio, Indiana, and Flint, Livonia, and Pontiac in Michigan. At present, Pastor Schmidt is chairman of Church Planning program of the Michigan District of the Missionary Church, and is active on other committees of his denomination.

Zion Missionary Church, 61 S. Edgemont St., also will host "Cowboy Ken Schmidt," from Onaway, Michigan, on Sun., Oct. 25 at 10 a.m. and 11:00 a.m.

Cowboy Schmidt will present a program of music, magic, ventriloquism, rope spinning, and story telling. He has conducted services in 49 states over the past 22 years and has had outstanding acceptance.

The public is invited.

Gamblers Anonymous

to hold meeting at WCCC

Gamblers Anonymous, an organization dedicated to dealing with the problems faced by habitual gamblers, will meet at Wayne County Community College, Western Region, 9555 Haggerty Road on Thursday, Nov. 5, 7:30 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room.

A widely acclaimed film "Big Steve" will be shown and there will be an in-depth discussion of the psychology of gambling.

Don Sellers, Professor of Psychology, will lead the discussion.

Everyone is invited. The topic is timely in view of the politics of Casino Gambling and its appeal in major cities of the country.

8. Fire Report

Motion by Duey, supported by Banotai to accept the Fire Report for September 1981, as read. Motion carried unanimously.

Trustee Morgan had another item to discuss. A committee was formed to look into the fireman's pay structure, and to make recommendations to the Board to be adopted. The recommendations were: 1) the firemen get $12.00 an hour for the first hour and $4.00 an hour for each additional hour. 2) $4.00 an hour for training sessions that they attend. 3) that while the firemen are in court for arson cases or cases pertaining to a fire that they receive $5.00 per hour while in court.

Motion by Morgan, supported by Banotai to adopt the three recommendations from the committee. Clerk Banotai suggested a roll call vote. Reaume—nay, Morgan—aye, Banotai—aye, Reeves—nay, Duey—nay, Huziak—nay, Bevins—aye. Motion failed.

Trustee Morgan suggested that the Clerk's Office review the insurance on the Fire Trucks as replacement costs have gone up. Motion by Morgan, supported by Bevins, to have the Clerk's office check into updating the insurance to cover current replacement costs on Fire Trucks. Motion carried unanimously.

Morgan suggested to the Board that the yellow tanker be put up for bids. Motion by Morgan, supported by Reaume, to have the Clerk check the amount that has been spent on the yellow tanker to date and advertise for bids, the minimum bid being that amount. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Morgan, supported by Duey to advertise for sale, the Fire Department's Red Chevrolet Pick-up. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Reaume, supported by Banotai, that they accept the Fire Report. Motion carried unanimously.

9. Water Report

Motion by Morgan, supported by Reaume to accept Water Report for the month of September 1981. Motion carried unanimously.

10. Treasurer Report—Duey

Motion by Bevins, supported by Banotai to accept the Treasurer's Report as read for the month of October 13, 1981. Motion carried unanimously.

11. Supervisor's Report—Reeves

Supervisor read a copy of a letter that Representative Mahalek send to Mr. Tanner, the director of the D.N.R., concerning City Sand and Landfill. He also reported on the trip to Lansing that he and fellow board members attended October 7, 1981. The meeting was with the DNR and Representative Mahalek. Reeves feels that this meeting was very satisfactory. He then showed the Certificate of Award that the Township received for Outstanding Achievement in the continued support of Wayne Metropolitan Community Services Agency.

Motion by Duey, supported by Morgan to accept Supervisor's Report. Motion carried unanimously.

At this point Supervisor Reeves recognized William Joyner, County Commissioner. Mr. Joyner spoke on the issue of the Electing of a County Executive Official. Mr. Joyner saluted the Township on their fight against City Sand and Landfill.

12. Engineer's Report — Wilhelmi

Mr. Wilhelmi explained the situation that exists on the Bradshaw Drain. He stated that it had been widened and cleaned out. He also stated that the Fire Station and Senior Citizens Parking Lot Improvements are underway. Stated that a resolution was passed by the Board requesting he look into the procedure for cancelling our contract agreement on Sherwood Park with the DNR. Mr. McDonald, Grants Coordinator of the DNR stated that a letter could be submitted. Engineer stated that a letter had been sent. Engineer has looked over Super Sewer construction plans on route approval. Mr. Wilhelmi requested a special session with the Board to discuss the program of the Super Sewer and go over the probable cost to the Township on this program.

Motion by Huziak, supported by Morgan to accept the Engineer's Report. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Bevins that the Township set time and date for meeting being at 4:00 p.m. instead of 5:00 p.m. before workshop session. Motion withdrawn. Motion by Bevins, supported by Morgan that the Board have a special meeting to discuss the Super Sewer. No date or time was set. Motion carried unanimously.

Engineer stated that he is reviewing block grant for the Township.

13. Attorney's Report—Witthoff

Wrote letter to Mr. Kellogg, Chief of the Resources recovery program of the DNR concerning City Sand and Landfill. Read letter Morgan asked that this letter also be sent to City Sand and Landfill. He also reported that the Civil Rights case of Berna Chenault was dismissed.

Motion by Bevins, supported by Reaume to accept the Attorney's Report. Motion carried unanimously.

14. Old Business

A. Motion by Morgan, supported by Banotai to appoint Juanita Wyche as the ReHab. coordinator. Motion carried by the majority.

B. Mr. Humphreys stated that we should reacquire Sumpter School. A committee requested a letter be sent from the Board to the School Board so that they could set up an appointment with the Board to discuss acquiring Sumpter School. Dan Welch asked Duey about the cost of the upkeep on Sumpter School. Duey asked Mr. Humphreys if Van Buren Schools were going to "give" us the building. Morgan stated that they would not "give" the Board the title, but that the Board would have full control of the building. Discussion was tabled for a workshop meeting.

15. New Business

A. Motion by Morgan, supported by Reaume, to let out bids for Drain Improvements for Willow, Martinsville and Wear Roads. Motion carried unanimously.

B. Motion by Bevins, supported by Duey to draw up a resolution supporting an Elected County Executive Official. Motion carried unanimously.

C. Dan Welch made a suggestion to incorporate changes in the resolution of Wayne County Planning Commission to Adopt Sumpter Township Amendments Package and Solid Waste Management Plan. Supervisor Reeves suggested to Mr. Welch that after the resolution was drawn up that he could proof read the resolution.

Motion by Bevins, supported by Morgan to draw up a resolution incorporating all the reasons that have been mentioned and recommend the Wayne County Planning Commission adopt Sumpter Township Amendments Package and Solid Waste Management Plan. Motion carried unanimously.

D. Motion by Morgan, supported by Reaume to retain Mary Dorow in Treasurer's Office during tax season. Motion carried unanimously.

E. Motion by Huziak, supported by Duey to adopt the Fair Housing Law. Motion carried unanimously.

*F. Motion by Bevins, supported by Morgan to approve the transfer of a Liquor License from Khaled Odeh to Clyde Walter Braden. Motion carried unanimously.

*G. Motion by Duey, supported by Banotai to approve the Water Department Supplies in the amount of $1,888.73. Motion carried unanimously.

16. Warrants

Motion by Reaume, supported by Morgan to pay warrants as monies become available.

Motion carried unanimously.

17. Adjournment

Motion by Duey, supported by Banotai to adjourn. Meeting adjourned at 9:30 p.m.

Respectfully Submitted

Van Buren offers stained glass classes

Beginning Stained Glass Classes will be offered in conjunction with the Van Buren Parks and Recreation Dept. and the Ypsilanti Public Schools by Roxanne Kempf of All Seasons Art & Glass Works.

Classes are offered in the mornings and evenings from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. Each class will meet once a week for six weeks starting on Mon., Nov. 2, Wed., Nov. 4 and mornings only on Fri., Nov. 6.

Participants will learn two different techniques in the art of stained glass construction by working on two projects: a traditional leaded panel window and a contemporary copper-foil light-catcher.

Tuition for the six-week course is $35. Tools and supplies necessary to complete the projects cost approximately $66.

"This small investment in tools and knowledge will allow the student to build beautiful stained glass windows of your own design at a minimum cost," Mrs. Kempf said.

Register through All Seasons Art and Glass Works, at the rear of 309 Main St., Belleville. Questions will be answered by Mrs. Kempf, telephone 697-5763.

Commissioner to discuss proposed charter

Bart Berg, Wayne County Charter Commissioner, will be the featured speaker at the October 21 meeting of the GFWC Belleville Junior Study Club.

Berg, whose district encompasses, Sumpter, Van Buren, Belleville, and the Canton Township areas, will discuss the proposed charter and the changes urged by the commissioners.

The voters will either accept or reject the proposed charter on Nov. 3, during the statewide general election.

Although Belleville Junior Study Club meetings are by "invitation only," any person interested in hearing Commissioner Bart may do so by telephoning Mrs. Cathy Horste, president of the local chapter of GFWC. She may be reached at 699-7968.

Students and shoplifting

When Van Buren schools were singled out as one of four districts that would be surveyed on shoplifting, it brought out WDIV (Channel 4) to do an on-the-spot interview with some of the students. Above, Debra Conklin and the Channel 4 mini-camera news team discuss the problem with some of the students of Mona Salisbury's 6th grade class at Edgemont Elementary School. The survey's goal is to make students — and adults — aware of the dire consequences of shoplifting and hopefully help solve the problem which is causing merchants across the country more than $1 billion annually.

Media award to Belleville's Krakowiak

Jerome Krakowiak, a Western Michigan University graduate student from Belleville, has been awarded the 1981-82 Neil L. Schoenhals Media Assistantship, it has been announced by the WMU Educational Resources Center (ERC).

Currently working toward a master's degree in computer science, Krakowiak previously taught mathematics at the elementary level at Nashville, Ind., and in Columbia, South America. He is a graduate of Michigan State University.

Krakowiak will work with Jon H. VanderMeer, instructional laboratory supervisor, in the development of educational software for microcomputer systems housed at the ERC Learning Laboratory in 3302 Sangren Hall.

The assistantship is named in honor of Schoenhals, who died in 1975 after serving for 30 years as a teacher and administrator at Western. It is valued at $1,000.

Also present: B. Ward Smith, Mike Alfaro, James Ackron, John Hoops, Steve Sheldon, Anthony L. Talaga, Harley Simmons, Louis Bokon, John Bokon, Clarence Fisher, Kelly Byram, Wade Byram, John Fisher, Helga Fisher, Joe DiPonio, Cecil Taylor.

Motion by Stinehour, supported by Carlson, to approve minutes of Council meeting held September 21, 1981.

Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Carlson, supported by Stinehour, to receive minutes of Board of Appeals meeting held October 2, 1981 and request joint meeting with Board and Council.

Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Tontalo, supported by Loria, to receive Fire Report for September.

Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Stinehour, supported by Carlson, to receive Police Report for September.

Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Tontalo, supported by Loria, to authorize increase in sewage disposal rates to consumers to $1.40 per 1,000 gallons effective December 1, 1981.

Motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Kelly Byram was present to apprise Council of his proposed "Family Fun Center" to be located in the Belle Plaza Shopping Center. He was informed of the procedure to follow for arcades set forth in the Zoning Ordinance and make application to Board of Appeals for special approval.

Sealed bids for the Main Street Alley Storm Sewer and Paving Project were received on October 2, 1981 at 11:00 a.m. from qualified bidders as follows: DiPonio & Morrelli Construction Company:

|                           | Sewers      | Paving      | Total       |
|---------------------------|-------------|-------------|-------------|
| Contract I only           | $25,804.00 | $11,910.00 |             |
| Contract I and II         | 44,186.00   | 25,780.00   |             |
| Contract I and II and III | 45,536.00   | 35,055.00   | $80,591.00 |

Thompson-McCully Company:

| Contract I only           | 41,339.55 | 3,636.00 |           |
|---------------------------|-----------|----------|-----------|
| Contract I and II         | 74,875.64 | 5,120.00 |           |
| Contract I and II and III | 81,833.24 | 7,325.00 | 89,158.24 |

Motion by Tontalo, supported by Carlson, there being insufficient funds for Contract II and III, these be rejected and accept Thompson-McCully's bid of $44,975.55 for Contract I only if they agree to extend project to Second Street.

Motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Ackron sought Council's reaction to a proposed mobile home condominium development to be located on 17 acres of land now owned by the Fruehauf Corporation, zoned R-M. He suggested the R-M District be changed to allow this type of development. He also stated a bill is pending in the Legislature concerning mobile home condominiums. Mr. Akron was asked to attend next council meeting.

Motion by Loria, supported by Carlson, to pay bills as presented.

Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Loria, supported by Stinehour, to adjourn meeting 8:45 p.m.

Motion carried unanimously.

MARINE PVT.
HARLEY G. SAVAGE JR.

Armed Forces

Pvt. Savage completes 'boot' training

Marine Pvt. Harley G. Savage Jr., son of E. Jean and Harley C. Savage Sr. of 33951 Goddard, Romulus, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

During the 11-week training cycle, he learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

A 1981 graduate of Romulus High School, he joined the Marine Corps in February 1981.

Navy Aviation Structural Mechanic 3rd Class James B. Giles, whose wife, Gloria, is the daughter of Ann Turner of 1620 Fourth St., Romulus, Mich., has reported for duty with Helicopter Anti-Submarine Squadron One, Naval Air Station, Jacksonville, Fla.

Airman Richard L. Doe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred J. Doe of 39567 Willis Road, Belleville, has been assigned to Kaesler Air Force Base, Miss., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the avionics systems field.

Doe is a 1981 graduate of Belleville High School.

Airman 1st Class Randy L. Dyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Dyer of 23735 Bredow, Romulus, has completed Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

The airman, who is remaining at Lackland for specialized training in the security police field, studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Completion of this training earned the individual credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

He is a 1981 graduate of Woodhaven High School, Flat Rock, Mich.

Army Pvt. Paul J. St. Amour Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. St. Amour of 34794 Huron River Drive, New Boston, has completed basic training at Fort Gordon, Ga.

During the training, students received instructions in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

St. Amour is a 1981 graduate of Huron High School, New Boston.

Marine Sgt. John P. Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raul Garcia of Inkster Road, Brownstown, will be returning home soon with his honorable discharge.

Sgt. Kelly has received many awards and commendations during his four year stint as a United States Marine, among them being the Sharp Shooters Medal.

He was with the Weapon Division, and most of his foreign duty has been in the Mediterranean area, aboard the Aircraft Carrier, U.S.S. Saratoga.

He joined the Marines, October 1977 after graduation from Lincoln Park High School, where he played defense on the 1977 undefeated football team.

John plans to enroll in Henry Ford Community College in January.

VA also has fuel conservation on its mind

If you think Detroit's automobile engineers are concerned with fuel efficiency these days, you ought to take a look at VA's energy experts.

Since 1975, the Veterans Administration has conducted one of the most successful energy management programs in the federal government, and it's getting better every month.

With 172 hospitals, 226 outpatient clinics, 92 nursing home care units and 16 domiciliaries, VA's mammoth health care system uses staggering amounts of energy each year — just over 36 trillion British Thermal Units of it in the year ending June 30, 1981.

Back in 1975, nearly two years before the formal launching of a government-wide crusade of energy conservation, VA embarked on its own crackdown.

Today, a little more than halfway through a ten-year program, the initial savings seem modest by comparison — 1.5 trillion BTUs shaved off the agency's heating and air conditioning bill for a savings of $2,700,000 in FY 1976.

The latest calculation shows that by FY 1981, VA engineers had managed to reduce energy consumption in the system by 9.4 trillion BTUs, saving $39,802,000 in fuel costs.

They did it by a variety of methods that range from such seemingly obvious stratagems as insulating pipes to far more complex solutions such as variable volume air systems, automatic steam line thermostats and devices to capture and re-cycle exhaust heat.

Window replacement projects and solar energy systems are coming into increasing use.

And VA engineers are active on another front, fighting the energy battle in the arcane world of computer models where, for the first time, whole hospitals and clinics have been designed with energy conservation in mind.

Design features include more stringent thermal property standards for windows, walls and roofs of buildings, analysis of air conditioning systems on a life cycle cost basis, improved boiler plant design, improved lighting equipment and lighting system designs, and provision of both active and passive solar energy systems where practical.

Based on computer simulation, VA will achieve an average energy use reduction in new buildings of 49 percent over that which would have occurred had the buildings been designed to 1975 criteria.

Using both design innovations and improvements to existing structures and their systems, VA engineers estimate they can achieve savings of nearly $52.5 million in FY 1982.

By the end of FY 1985 — the final year of their decade-long program — they expect to achieve an annual savings of 19 trillion BTUs and $120,650,000 at a cost of $24 million. And over the span of the program, energy cost savings will amount to $457 million for an expenditure of $127 million.

SUPERINTENDENT'S NARRATIVE, 1980-81

During the 1980-81 fiscal year, the Van Buren Public Schools operated a minimally adequate K-12 educational program serving some 7,189 students (13 nonresidents), 2% fewer than the 7,349 (7 nonresidents) enrolled during 1979-80. Of the fourteen buildings in the district, 11 were used for instructional purposes, one for administration, and two were rented or leased for other than public school purposes, unchanged from the previous year. The district employed 311 full time equated classroom teachers in its 336 classrooms, down from the 328.5 teachers employed during 1979-80. The minimum teacher's salary for the year was $13,797, while the maximum was $30,005, as compared with $12,514 and $27,215, respectively, for 1979-80. Total funds spent for salaries of classroom teachers amounted to $6,656,814, down from $6,847,527 the previous year due to staff reduction and reclassification. The ratio of students to certificated staff rose from 22.4 : 1 for 1979-80 to 23.1 : 1 for 1980-81. The ending General Fund balance for 1980-81 of a deficit of $190,029 represented only a slight deterioration in the fiscal well-being of the district as the fund equity of $691,424 for 1979-80 included contingency funds for retroactive employee salaries.

It is recommended for the 1981-82 year that adequate state and local revenues be sought to avoid deficit financing and to regain necessary educational and support programs, that disposal be made
